I'M AFTER THEM! I'M AFTER THEM!

Look out for the sleek tongued varments that tell you the Advance is not the best machine in the market. Those that tell you falsehoods are not worthy of being called by any other name. The ADVANCE is guaranteed to do more and better work than any other machine in the market and is the only machine on the Coast that has NEVER been replaced by other machines. Other dealers have offered new machines for an ADVANCE that has been run two years and have given parties to understand they would give differences but were told that the ADVANCE, after two years' run was still much better than old fogy machines if they were new. And if the ADVANCE engine is not the best traction engine, why is it that I have sold TWELVE on the West Side, between Portland and Corvallis this year?

END OF A FAMOUS CASE.

A Nolle Prosequi Granted in Favor of Wickersham.

A CLEAN SWEEP BY DEMOCRATS

The Puyallup Reservation—A Disgraceful Street Brawl at Spokane Falls—The Situation at Ellensburgh—Etc

TACOMA July 9—Argument for a new trial in the Wickersham-Brantner case concluded in the district court to-day. After the attorneys had concluded their arguments the matter of the last affidavit sworn to by Miss Brantner was taken up and witnesses to the affidavit questioned by Judge Allyn. The witnesses were District Clerk A Reeves Ayers, Judge Beverly of the probate court and Attorney F W Taylor. The witnesses testified that Miss Brantner signed the affidavit of her own free will in their presence.

Judge Allyn delivered a long opinion on the motion for a new trial, and cited authorities to show that the granting of a new trial was usual in such cases where the judge who had heard the evidence was not the one to sentence the prisoner. For this reason if for no other the court held that a new trial should be granted that the defendant might have the benefit of every doubt that might arise in the minds of the judge as well as in the minds of the jury during the progress of the trial.

Furthermore he held that the signing of the new affidavits by Miss Brantner, the prosecuting witness, threw a new light on the case and the affidavit offered as evidence in the case on the part of the defendant might be classed as new evidence which it was impossible for him to obtain before. For these reasons he ordered that a new trial be granted.

District Attorney Newlin of Seattle arose and moved a nolle prosequi stating that by reason of the new affidavit signed and sworn to by Miss Brantner and offered in evidence by the defendant doubts had arisen in the mind of the prosecuting attorney.

Judge Allyn replied that if doubts had arisen in the mind of the prosecuting attorney it was very probable that those same doubts would arise in the mind of the court, and he ordered that a nolle prosequi be granted.

Judge James Wickersham, the defendant in the celebrated case, sat near one of the tables in front of the judge's bench during the proceedings. He appeared to be unconcerned in the matter which concerned him so much and was congratulated on the decision. This practically concludes the celebrated case.

A DEMOCRATIC VICTORY

A Clean Sweep in the Port Townsend Election

PORT TOWNSEND July 8—The city election resulted in a clean sweep for the democratic candidates. The republicans were badly beaten by over fifty majority for each candidate. The democrats were harmoniously organized for several weeks and worked hard for success which contrasted sharply with the republicans who presumed on last autumn's victory to win the election. The majorities were as follows: For mayor Joseph A Kuhn 9[illegible], for councilmen J S Latimer 170, J H Livermore 140, F W Doval 8[illegible], for marshal R D [illegible] [illegible]. The victory elates the democrats and they assert that it indicates success in the state elections.

THE PUYALLUP RESERVATION

The Larger Part Will Probably Be Opened to Settlement

OLYMPIA W T July 9—Edwin Eells, Indian agent at the Puyallup reservation opposite Tacoma, arrived here this evening on his way to visit the reservations of which he has charge. In conversation to-night he said that when the senatorial committee now on its way to Alaska returns to Tacoma the members will spend some time in looking into the status of the Indians on the Puyallup reservation, with a view to an early opening of two thirds of the valuable lands on it to white settlement. Mr Eells says the lands were granted in severalty to the Indians with a promise that they might be sold [illegible] as soon as Washington became a state [illegible] by authority of an act of the legislature of Washington approved by congress, and Senator Dolph [illegible] will [illegible] quite particular [illegible] as to what restriction will be necessary to [illegible] conserve the rights of the Indians.

The lands in question are of immense value and include about three miles of water front immediately opposite Tacoma worth some $[illegible],000,000. The reservation contains about 18,000 acres, all of which are rich bottom land and when opened to settlement these portions added to the towns of Tacoma will form the finest hop ranches in the world.

At present these Indians are full citizens of the United States and vote for all the officers of the county and territory equally with the whites while still under the charge of an agent. The government provides schools [illegible] for these Indians just as [illegible] for those who are still under tutelage.

A DISGRACEFUL STREET BRAWL

A Woman Attempts to Horsewhip a Man For Defaming Her Character

SPOKANE FALLS July 9—Mrs Simon Wilkins approached J J Schwartz in front of the Frankfurt block at noon to-day and asked about certain remarks made by him concerning her character. Schwartz denied what he had said and she then pulled a horsewhip out of her parasol and struck Schwartz, who grabbed the whip and struck the woman in the nose.

Mrs Wilkins's husband, who had witnessed the scene from across the street, rushed over and struck at Schwartz with a cane but the blow was warded off. The police arrested Simon Wilkins and wife and took them before the police justice. They gave bonds for appearance to-morrow.

About 6 this evening Schwartz met Wilkins in a cigar store and struck him a heavy blow on the head with a loaded cane. Wilkins grabbed the cane and hit Schwartz a stinging blow on the head. They then clinched and a hard fight ensued. The police separated the men and took Schwartz into custody. Bail was furnished. The trial is to come off to-morrow.

AT ELLENSBURGH

Arrival of Fifty Drummers—The Work of Reconstruction

ELLENSBURGH, W T July 9—Ellensburgh, always a favorite place with traveling men, is now receiving an unusually large quota. Fifty arrived to-day from Portland and San Francisco. They find all stocks depleted beyond precedent and customers willing to replenish as soon as tents can be procured. A disposition is shown on the part of the railroads to extend the time and give the customers all the advantage possible. This fact stimulates merchants to hurry up locations and is resulting in temporary tents being put up all over the city. Meantime there is great activity in substantial buildings. This evening 1,000,000 bricks were contracted for by brickmakers, and that [illegible] feet front of brick buildings will be under contract this week. It is hard for active reporters to keep track of all the buildings now under contract and under way.

Chinatown is resting quietly since the mayor read the riot act to the infuriated citizens and no further attempt will be made to raid the place. The determination to maintain peace and the good name of the city on the part of the mayor is sustained by all law abiding citizens.

Insurance adjusters like traveling men are also still here in force and are astonished at the complete wreck presented by the property insured. Thus far adjustments have been satisfactory.

This afternoon there was a partial jail delivery, three prisoners escaping.

H Prescott telegraphed Mayor Abrams this afternoon to draw on the Northern Pacific for $[illegible],000. Subscriptions are beginning to come in more freely.

Some complaint has been made that messages proffering aid have not been answered promptly by Mayor Abrams. Your correspondent is authorized to state that all such messages have received his prompt attention. If any omissions have been made they were through transmission. No fault can possibly attach to the mayor or relief committee. They have all been working night and day ever since the fire and their every act has been square and honest, meeting the approval of all who have the good of the city at heart.

DROWNING AT CLATSOP

A Young Waiter, Who Ventured Among the Breakers, the Victim

ASTORIA July 9—A young man, William Van Gundy, employed as waiter at the Seaside house, was drowned while bathing Monday afternoon. He with several other boys who were unacquainted with sea bathing, ventured beyond the breakers on a strong ebb tide. Van Gundy lost control of himself and was carried out to sea. His letters indicate that he was a young unmarried man from Delta, O. The body was not recovered.

THE MONTANA CONVENTION.

A Resolution in Favor of State Control of Trusts.

HELENA Mont July 9—In the constitutional convention to-day two resolutions were introduced in regard to the preamble to the constitution and referred to the appropriate committee. Watson of Fergus county introduced a resolution in regard to trusts and combinations that may raise or control the prices of the necessaries of life, that laws be enacted that may keep these trusts, or combinations, under state control.

OREGON'S PARIS REPRESENTATIVE.

A Letter to Governor Pennoyer From John Kelly of Portland

SALEM Or July 9—Governor Pennoyer to-day received a letter from John Kelly of Portland who is Oregon's representative at Paris, France, in which he says: "I take pleasure in informing you that my commission has succeeded in securing for me the highest social recognition alike from Americans, French and English.

"There is no exhibit here from any state whatever, it is all from the United States of America. The exhibit is only fair but there are many novel things among the machinery department.

"Acting as officers or guards of the American department is a detachment from the United States marine corps numbering about thirty men and two officers. They seem to have been specially selected for I never saw a finer looking lot of young men. Their dress is the nicest uniform on the grounds.

"I can assure you that since I left Portland April 19 I have worked and talked as best I could or know how for the interests of our state and I will continue doing so until my return home."

News Notes From Salem.

SALEM, Or, July 9—The state military board met in this city to-day. General Shofner, Colonel Bondit and Dr Taylor were present. The principal business was auditing bills. They adjourned this afternoon.

The county normal institute is in session in this city with nearly forty teachers in attendance.

The governor appointed Theodore Hurlinger of Mount Angel notary public to-day.

The Boston Fishing and Trading Company filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state to-day. The object is to prosecute a general fish canning and packing business, principal place of business, Portland, capital stock $40,000. Incorporators, A B Ford, D W Crowley and M G Munly.

A Fugitive Contractor Arrested

TACOMA W T July 9—McCormick, the contractor who it is said, fled in April with several thousand dollars of other people's money, has been arrested by Sheriff McFarland of Walla Walla county. He is being held in Walla Walla subject to orders from Sheriff Price who received a telegram notifying him of his arrest this morning. Sheriff Price will send a deputy to Walla Walla to-morrow morning to bring McCormick back. His alleged embezzlement amounted to about $4000. He left several contracts unfinished and defrauded an old rancher, it is alleged, out of $1000.

A Contested Land Case

SEATTLE W T July 9—The contested homestead case of Joseph Shaw vs. heirs of [illegible] H Danforth is being heard before Register Reed in the United States land office. The land in contest consists of forty acres within the limits of the city of Tacoma, and is valued at $40,000. The land was entered by Danforth in 186[illegible] and it is alleged that he never resided on the place according to the provisions of the homestead law.

A Swimmer Drowned at Wallula

WALLA WALLA W T July 9—Charles Fitzell, while trying to swim across the Walla Walla river at Wallula Monday night, suddenly threw up his hands, cried for help, sank and was drowned. He was a native of Montreal. The body was buried here this morning. There is some intimation that it was a case of suicide.

A CLOUDBURST IN NEW YORK.

Bridges Washed Away, Trains Delayed and Communication Cut Off

SCHENECTADY N Y July 9—A cloudburst washed away the Central railroad tracks between Aiken and Tribe's Hill stations about four miles west of Amsterdam this afternoon causing the delay of all trains. It seems impossible to get any particulars here this evening as to how bad the break is or how long it will take to repair it. Some trains hurrying to make up lost time narrowly escaped the cloudburst but all did escape. One house was partially washed away but no lives were lost.

NINE BRIDGES WASHED AWAY

[illegible] N Y July 9—A telephone message from Johnstown says that the town is in total darkness and that nine bridges were washed away. The electric light plant has been washed away, also three skein mills at Gloversville. One body has been recovered. The water is three feet deep in the town of [illegible].

THE NEWS REACHES SARATOGA

SARATOGA July 9—A telephone message from Amsterdam states that a washout at Aiken N Y three miles west of there has torn up 400 feet of track and cut off communication with the west. Whether the washout was caused by a cloud burst in Aiken or by the breaking of a dam at Johnstown N Y as rumored cannot be ascertained.

BIG FLOOD THREATENED

[illegible] N Y July 9—At 11 o'clock to-night rain is falling in torrents in Johnstown and the flood is assuming a terrible aspect. Mills and sheds are being carried rapidly away. It is beginning to rain here at [illegible] and looks to be a heavy storm.

NO LIVES WERE LOST

ALBANY July 9—A special from Schenectady to the Argus tells of the washing away of three bridges at Johnstown. The rumors of the loss of life [illegible] correspondent says are without foundation.

HEBREWS IN CONVENTION

The Unions of American Congregations at Detroit

DETROIT Mich July 9—The Union of American Hebrew Congregations met here in annual convention. Two hundred delegates were in attendance with their ladies. The address of welcome was made by Simon Heavenrich of Detroit. Rabbi Grossman of Detroit made an earnest speech, including a very touching reference to Rabbi Wise of Cincinnati, the venerable and respected teacher of Judaistic principles.

The committee on permanent organization reported the following for the ensuing year: President David Klein of Philadelphia; Vice President Sigmund Levy of Buffalo; secretary [illegible] of Cincinnati; Assistant Secretary [illegible] of St Louis.

GERMAN TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION

The National Annual Convention Opens in Chicago

CHICAGO July 9—The National German Teachers Association began its nineteenth annual convention in this city this evening. The association is composed of the teachers of German in the public and private schools in the United States, and includes many prominent persons. The president in the opening address stated that the object of the organization was not to make Germany out of America, but to preserve to the Americans of German blood and to all Americans the rich fruits of German thought and culture, both in literature and the arts.

Mrs Hayes Eulogized by Frances Willard

CHICAGO July 9—Frances Willard, president of the World's W C T U, has issued an address to the officers and members of the association eulogizing the character of the late Mrs R B Hayes and stating that no woman ever lived who did so much to discountenance the social use of intoxicants. It requests memorial services to be held in all the local unions on Sunday, [illegible].

A Triple Tragedy

[illegible] July 9—This town was the scene of a triple tragedy at 2 o'clock this afternoon. John Lewis was a plasterer [illegible] fatally shooting Mrs Elmira Mosely and her sister [illegible] Meyers and then committing suicide. The cause is shrouded in mystery. The parties are all colored. Mrs Mosely was a widow and Lewis [illegible].

The National C E S Convention

RULES AND ORDER.

Mr Prosser from the committee on rules and order made a report recommending the employment of a journal clerk and one additional page; and that no committee clerks be employed except upon request of each committee requiring one, such request to be made and acted upon by the convention; also that the committee on rules and order be continued as a standing committee and that a committee on engrossment and a committee on public health and hygiene be added to the list. The committee also reported a code of rules for the government of the convention which were read. Cushing's manual is adopted to govern in cases where the rules fail.

Mr Gowey moved to go into committee of the whole to consider this report. It was seconded.

Mr [illegible] suggested several clerical amendments, which were made.

Mr Gowey renewed his motion, saying he did it to avoid the printing of all these rules twice. If considered and amended in committee of the whole they can then be printed finally. The motion prevailed and the president called Mr Gowey to the chair.

Mr Eldridge moved that the rules be taken up separately and read. So voted.

The recommendation as to additional officers was read.

Mr Sullivan of Tacoma moved to amend by striking out the additional page. Adopted by a vote of ayes thirty four, noes sixteen. The recommendation was then adopted.

The recommendation as to committee clerks was adopted on motion of Mr Dyer and as to additional standing committees on motion of T M Reed.

The rules were then taken up.

Rule [illegible] time of meeting each day at 10 [illegible] amended to [illegible] o'clock. Lost.

[illegible] duties of the president, adopted.

On motion of T M Reed it was ordered that all rules be considered adopted if no amendments were offered.

The reading proceeded with merely clerical amendments until rule forty four was reached, which requires the assent of a majority of all the delegates elected on the final vote on any constitutional proposition.

Dunbar moved to so amend that a majority of those voting in each case shall be sufficient.

Prosser opposed this and declared that no constitutional proposition ought to go out from this convention to the people which did not at least receive the assent of a majority of the convention.

Messrs Dunbar and Comegys argued in favor of of the amendment and Messrs Prosser, Cosgrove and Griffitts against it. The amendment was lost.

The remaining rules were read and adopted without further debate.

On motion of Mr Reed of Olympia the clerk was instructed to properly number all the rules consecutively.

On motion of Mr Kinnear the committee of the whole rose. President Hoyt resumed the chair.

Mr Gowey submitted the report of the committee of the whole, namely that the convention adopt the whole report of the committee on rules and orders except that the recommendation for an additional page be stricken out. That report was also adopted and thus the rules for the convention are established.

Mr Prosser moved that 300 copies of the rules and list of committees be printed.

On motion of Mr Dyer the number was increased to 500 and in that form. Warner asked that the additional committees be added and was answered by the president that he would attend to that.

ELECTION OF JOURNAL CLERK

Mr Durie moved to proceed to the election of a journal clerk and that motion prevailed.

Mr Crowley nominated Mrs Belle Lampkin, and Mr [illegible] seconded the nomination.

Mr Gowey nominated Brad W Davis of Olympia.

Mr McElroy nominated J D Hannagan of Union City.

A ballot was moved by Sullivan of Tacoma and on his motion Judge Henry called for the yeas and nays, which resulted yeas 60, nays 1[illegible]. The ballot was accordingly had with the following result: Whole number 6[illegible], necessary 33; Lampkin [illegible], Hannagan 24, Davis 1[illegible], scattering 2, and there was no election.

While the ballot was being counted up the following telegram was read:

ELLENSBURGH W T

H W Fairweather and A A Lindsley, Constitutional Convention: For your generous contributions accept our grateful acknowledgment. Our people are sorely afflicted, but already active preparations have begun to rebuild grander and larger. Swift winged messages of condolence encourage us.
W R ABRAHAMS Mayor.

A second ballot for journal clerk had this result: Whole number 66, necessary 34, Lampkin 31, Hannagan 24, Davis 11, no election.

Mr Gowey withdrew the name of Brad W. Davis.

Mr Kinnear desired to make a nomination, but objection was made.

Mr Reed of Olympia moved that Mr Kinnear be allowed to make his nomination but this motion was lost by a decided negative.

A third ballot followed: Whole number, 64; necessary 33; Lampkin [illegible], Hannagan [illegible], Sylvester 1, and Mrs Lampkin was declared elected.

Mrs Lampkin appeared and received the oath of office from the president.

TRUSTS AND MONOPOLIES.

Mr Kinnear offered the following resolution:

WHEREAS, The formation of trusts and combinations for the purpose of fixing the price and regulating the production of the various articles of commerce is one of the existing and growing evils of the day, preventing fair and honest competition in the various industries in which our people are engaged, and certain to retard the new state in its onward march to commercial greatness. Be it therefore

Resolved, That this subject be referred to the appropriate committee, with instructions to prepare and submit to this convention a clause providing in substance that no incorporated company in the state of Washington shall directly or indirectly combine or make any contract with any other incorporate company, foreign or domestic through their stockholders or the trustees or assigns of such stockholders, or in any manner whatsoever for the purpose of fixing the price or regulating the production of any article of commerce and that the legislature be required to pass laws for the enforcement thereof by adequate penalties to the extent if necessary, for that purpose, of the forfeiture of their property and franchises

Mr Kinnear, of Seattle argued briefly in favor of the resolution as submitted

Mr Buchanan, of Ritzville followed in an earnest speech against trusts and the accumulation of immense fortunes at the expense of the people, who received no adequate returns for the immense sums thus absorbed from them. He described the formation of the lumber trusts and declared that some provision ought to be made in the constitution of the new state to prevent the existence of such combinations.

Mr Sullivan, of Whitman advocated the adoption of the resolutions, with the suggestion that in addition to the forfeiture of their property and [illegible] state such corporations be forever afterwards precluded from doing business in this state

Judge Henry moved to refer the resolution to the committee on corporations

Mr Griffits favored the resolution in a spirited speech against trusts and such monopolies.

Mr Cosgrove thought the resolution not broad enough that it ought to include the corporations and monopolies that fix freight and railroad fares, which he considered to be the greatest present evil in the state He believes the poorest man and the greatest corporation ought each to have what was simply right. The committee could examine the whole subject and decide what was right.

Mr Stiles thought the proper reference of the resolution would be to the committee on commerce and manufactures

Sullivan of Tacoma raised the point of order that it was the duty of the president to refer matters to appropriate committees But the president overruled this point.

Griffitts asked in what form the matters would go to the committee and the president explained that the resolution was not now on its passage, but was simply to be referred to the committee on corporations other than municipal.

Mr Comegys preferred to adopt the resolution first, and then send it to the committee

Mr Warner opposed the reference to committee

Mr Kinnear said his idea was to adopt the resolution as a resolution of instructions to the committee to prepare a suitable article on this subject for insertion in the constitution

Mr Griffitts hoped the motion to refer would not prevail, and called for the ayes and noes.

The roll was called and the motion prevailed by a vote of ayes 43 noes 23 and the resolution accordingly goes to the committee on corporations other than municipal, of which Mr Kinnear is chairman

Mr Dunbar moved to adjourn, and the motion prevailed, the convention standing adjourned according to the rules adopted to-day, until 1 30 P M, on Wednesday

TALK OF THE LOBBY

A Glance at the Distribution of the Committees.

OLYMPIA July 9—Schooley of Snohomish, and Clothier, of Skagit, answered to roll call this morning Mires, of Ellensburgh was away on leave of absence and there were one or two other absentees, probably on account of getting left at their respective towns. Water transportation to Olympia is not sure by any means Boats due here at 10 o'clock P M frequently arrive at midnight, or long after There are not enough boats on the Sound to do the work required

THE COMMITTEE DISTRIBUTION

The committees as announced by Chairman Hoyt, were somewhat a surprise to some of the members, Turner rep, as was expected was placed at the head of the most important committee—the judicial department and upon him and his colleagues will devolve the duty of arranging the judiciary of the new state etc There are thirteen lawyers on this committee

Warner the democrat from Whitman was made chairman of the committee on legislation preamble and bill of rights Browne of Spokane Falls another democrat secured the chairmanship of the committee on state and county municipal indebtedness, Blalock of Walla Walla on educational matters and institutions Durie, of Seattle, on harbors, tide water and navigable streams Godman on homestead and property exemptions. These were all the democrats who secured committee chairmanships

It was commented upon by many that Durie, a democrat, should have been made chairman of such an important committee as harbors tide water and navigable streams when an influential republican newspaper in the territory had endeavored to defeat Mr Durie because of his known views on the tide flat lands Durie is however, a level headed Scotchman and an able man, and the chairman may know what he is about in such an appointment

Mires of Ellensburgh is at the head of the water and water rights committee another important body and Dunbar of Klickitat [illegible] the committee on state school and granted land On apportionment and representation the able young lawyer from Walla Walla, is chairman and Stiles of Tacoma, has charge of the city county and township organization committee On corporations other than municipal, Kinnear of Seattle is made chairman, and to his committee went the first blast against trusts in the shape of a denunciatory resolution by himself Buchanan, a sturdy old farmer from Ritzville made an effective speech, followed by Griffitts a lawyer of Spokane

Power of LaConner, the head of the printing, mileage and contingent expenses committee is pleased that a pet measure of his was adopted in the rules, namely to require a committee to make a report on any subject in three days after it is referred to it This will enable the convention to keep track of business and not allow the chairmen of committees to pocket matters referred to committees. It will moreover, not allow a great amount of labor to pile up in the committees hands until the end of the session

CONVENTION NOTES

J A Shoudy, of Ellensburgh, was at the convention to day

Some splendid peaches raised in North Yakima were distributed in the convention to-day by J T Eshelman, of that place

It was stated late to-night that the tide flat land question will come before the state, school and granted lands committee, of which Dunbar is chairman, and not before Durie's committee It is the largest committee of the twenty three The Tacoma delegates are doing considerable kicking because they did not get a single member on that committee out of the fifteen.

The friends of woman suffrage are absolutely howling The committee on that question (elections and elective rights) is said to be opposed to the whole business in any shape manner or form. P C Sullivan of Tacoma, is chairman

The appointment of Thomas H Cavanaugh for surveyor general appears to satisfy everybody here, including General Tom He received a hundred dispatches to-day, one of which was from Major Hayden, of Seattle who said "Sullivan on top Moran on top Thomas H Cavanaugh on top. It's a great day for Ireland, wahoo!"

THE SIOUX FALLS CONVENTION.

The Membership of the Various Committees Announced

SIOUX FALLS, Dak, July 9 – The constitutional convention was in session less than an hour when President Edgerton announced the membership of the thirty two standing committees, averaging ten each The committees on apportionment and the submission of the constitution number twenty five each or one-third of the entire convention The purpose is to do the chief work of the body in committees

A petition was received to-day from naturalized Russian Mennonites asking the insertion of a constitutional provision exempting them from military service as they had left the old country to escape such service

The commission of seven to visit Bismarck to assist in dividing the assets and liabilities and archives of the territory between the two states will probably start Thursday The positions on this commission were regarded as the next best thing after the presidency They [illegible] chances for mistakes and failures and may prove political graveyards

It will be some time yet before the proceedings of the convention will smack of special importance The functions of the convention are so limited by the enabling act that many fruitful questions will not be considered

The prohibitionists have three fifths of the delegates. Woman suffrage probably has a majority The Farmers Alliance and labor organizations could likely muster two-fifths but no manifestation of political division has yet been observed, except the republicans and democrats, fifty-one to twenty four, as shown by the caucuses of both parties. Third party probabilities of any sort are not threatening anywhere. Prohibition has already been recognized in the constitution of 1885 by four provisions voted on separately so that that particular faction has no quarrel The anti monopoly features of the document amply satisfy the grangers

THE IDAHO CONVENTION.

A Memorial To Be Presented by the W C. T U

BOISE CITY July 9—The Idaho constitutional convention after a formal opening, invited the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Idaho to present, through their representatives their memorial on temperance and suffrage to morrow morning Messrs Pefley of Ada, Mayhew of Shoshone and Ainslie of Boise City were appointed a special committee to escort the ladies to the hall.

All the committees were directed to report at the earliest practicable day

After the announcement of various committee meetings, the convention adjourned to Wednesday morning

THE NORTH DATKOA CONVENTION.

It Was Not in Session Yesterday, but the Democrats Made Out Their Slate.

BISMARCK, July 9—The constitutional convention was not in session to-day

The democrats met in caucus, and prepared their slate, and through a committee submitted them to the president, who will give them more than they asked for. They will probably be given three or four chairmanships, and their full quota on the twenty-three committees on corporations revenues and taxation, school lands elective franchise, the executive department and temperance.

JAPANESE EXCLUDED.

The Hastings Law College Has no Knowledge for Mongolians

SAN FRANCISCO July 9—The action of the Hastings law college herein refusing to admit Japanese students to the college has provoked much discussion in the Japanese colony When a Japanese named Ozawa applied to be admitted to attend a course of lectures objections were made by several law students and the matter was referred to a committee The committee reported that the constitution of the United States and of this state preclude Mongolians from enjoying the rights of citizenship and in this connection classed the Japanese under the head of Mongolians The committee based its report upon the decision of Circuit Judge Sawyer in the case of Ah Yup who applied for papers of citizenship In this decision Judge Sawyer quoted from Webster and other authorities including Blumenback who says "The Mongolian or yellow race came from that territory occupying Tartary China, Japan etc"

THE WITHDRAWAL FROM TEXAS.

How the Southern Pacific Complies With the New Law.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 9—In further explanation of last night's telegrams to the effect that the Southern Pacific Company had decided to withdraw from the great state of Texas it may be said that there are two railroad companies whose lines traverse this state but whose principal offices are not located as the new law requires The Missouri Pacific, owned and controlled by Jay Gould is one and the Atlantic system of the Southern Pacific Company is the other What steps the former will take have not yet been decided upon

The latter company has abandoned its leases, having only the alternative of doing this or moving its head offices from this city to Texas. This abandonment of the leases will, however, not affect the operation of these lines, but will necessitate their being operated separately. Each of them will have a separate set of officers and the office now in New Orleans will be removed to Houston. As regards the Atlantic system, the Southern Pacific lines in Texas will exist no more

The change virtually destroys the system of lines in Texas, including some few hundred miles of track and $9,471,740 of the $80,453 012 of stock held by the Southern Pacific Company.

Leland Stanford and his associates first bought the Galveston, Harrisburg & San Antonio road from El Paso to Houston, 853 miles in length One hundred and four miles from Houston to Orange was then purchased, followed by the buying of the Louisiana Western, which runs from Orange to Fayette in Louisiana. One hundred and twelve miles more were bought to connect the Louisiana & Texas road with the Morgan line of steamers from New Orleans, and all were leased to the Southern Pacific Company by which lease they were grouped as the Atlantic system The Houston & Texas Central Railway Company and the Texas Central Railway Company both passed into the control of the Southern Pacific Company recently and afforded an additional 748 miles of track.

WHEAT AND FLOUR IN NEW ZEALAND

The Market Badly Demoralized and but Little Encouragement to Shippers

SAN FRANCISCO, July 9—Advices up to date of June 12 received from Sydney by the resident general manager of the New Zealand Insurance Company show that the wheat and flour markets there are in a very poor way

The wheat market has come to a standstill and the knowledge that several Pacific coast [illegible] are now on the way does not serve to improve matters and the outlook for American shippers is anything but cheering, as to all appearances they can only meet with heavy loss Only 4s 2d can be obtained for a bushel of 60 pounds for the finer milling grades.

Flour is, of course, seriously affected, and the cargoes now coming in from San Francisco can only be realized on at heavy losses to the shippers. The consigners are offering finest brands to arrive at £10 15s per ton

The trouble seems to arise from the New Zealand people locking up their wheat for higher prices and eventually being forced by many American imports to take what they can get For the future supply according to the latest computation of the total requirements after deducting the local productions of Victoria South Australia and New Zealand, there will be a deficiency of 1 70 010 bushels that must be made up outside of the Australian group

SAN FRANCISCO July 9—Not one of the three assassins of Lue Ah Sing, who was shot in the Chinese theatre on Sunday night, has yet been arrested The detectives are not sanguine of capturing any of the murderers, who are thought to have left the city

A vast amount of bad blood has been aroused among the different bands of highbinders in Chinatown by the last two murders, and the officials of that district are anticipating most serious results in the future

THE IDAHO MINE.

Workmen Have Reached the Ten-Hundred Foot Level, Finding no Signs of Fire.

GRASS VALLEY, Cal. July 8.—The Idaho mine has been opened and the workmen have reached the ten hundred foot level. There were no signs of fire in the mine, but the gas is fearful. The men who went down saw one body floating in the water in the ten hundred foot level, but could not reach it, owing to the gas

Repairs will soon be made, if the fire is really out.

COMMISSIONER TANNER.

A Rumor in Washington That His Resignation Has Been Requested.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 9—An Examiner's Washington special says "There is a rumor to-night that the resignation of Corporal Tanner as commissioner of pensions has been requested

It is known that Secretary Noble had a long interview with Commissioner Tanner this afternoon, in which the administration of affairs in the pension office was thoroughly overhauled The question of undue preference given to certain claim agents in the making of their cases 'special' was discussed at length and it is understood that General Bussey assistant secretary of the interior presented to Secretary Noble something very much in the nature of charges against the commissioner on account of his rulings in certain cases.

Great Solicitude.

Atlanta Constitution

A balloon which went up from a circus near Montgomery, several years ago, sailed away eight or ten miles and came down in a field where some negroes were plowing. Terrified at the spectacle of a chariot coming down from heaven they verily believed that the last great day had come, and remembering all their shortcomings, fled away in terror at the approach of the awful judge.

One gray headed and rheumatic old negro was unable to get away. He could follow the plow, but could not run, and the chariot came down upon him with terrible swiftness In that awful moment his whole life rushed upon him, he thought of all the petty sins he had committed, and the ghosts of a hundred chickens seemed to rise up in judgment against him But in that desperate emergency his mind did not desert him, and remembering that politeness always counted with his earthly master he quickly decided to greet the Lord of Heaven and earth in becoming style. As soon as the aeronaut touched the earth and began to entangle himself from the meshes about his car the old darky, with an air of profound obeisance, removed the wool hat from his shiny pate, bowed low and said with pious unction.

SALVATOR WINS AGAIN.

Haggin's Horse the Best Three-Year-Old on the Turf.

ALREADY HE HAS WON A FORTUNE

He Took the Lorillard Stakes Yesterday After a Great Race—A Record Lowered at Washington Park

MONMOUTH PARK, July 9—The attendance here to day was rather light The fifth race was divided and run in two divisions making in all seven events that were decided Three of these were stakes for 2 year olds the third the Shrewsbury handicap, and then the Lorillard stakes which is the second richest stake of the year for 3 year olds. Mr Haggin won the Lorillard stakes with Salvator He was ridden by Isaac Murphy who had come on from Chicago especially to ride him This race without doubt stamps Salvator the best 3 year old of the year His earnings already amount to $[illegible] 000

Mile and a furlong—Bella B won in 1 57 [illegible] second, Burch third

Three quarters of a mile—Cayuga won in 1 15 Glomming second, Fanquet third

Mile and a half—Turos won, Iceland second Inverwick third time, 2 35

Lorillard stakes, $10 000 $2,000 to first Starters Salvator Favordale colt, Long Dance Jubal Longstreet, Sorrento Eric and Kern The start was the worst of the season, Longstreet being fully a dozen lengths behind Sorrento was first to show followed by Salvator Favordale Colt and Eric Sorrento went right out and proceeded to make the running As they swung into the home stretch the first time around he was half a length before Salvator who was a neck in front of Long Dance

Coming down the turn Sorrento had increased his lead to two lengths with Kern next, a head before Salvator, and with Long Dance two lengths off leading the ruck

Going around the lower turn the field closed on Sorrento, and at the starter's post he was but a neck in the van with Kern and Salvator next. As they ran up the back stretch they all bunched beautifully As they neared the upper turn Longstreet which Garrison had gradually worked out of the ruck shot out like an arrow and almost everybody expected to see him go out and win easily

As they swung into the homestretch Salvator and Favordale Colt were but half a length apart, with Longstreet third a length away

At the last eighth post Longstreet had the Favordale colt beaten, and he set sail for Salvator, but as he had to make up too much lost ground he could not get up to Salvator who won by two lengths in 2 37½ Longstreet second four lengths in front of the Favordale colt third Sorrento, Eric, Jubal, Long Dance and Kern followed in the order given The half was made in 0 52½ and the mile in 1 46

Five eighths of a mile—G W Cook won, Harre was second Utility third time 1 01½

Five-eighths of a mile—Saure won in 1 02¼ Sunshine second Fred B third

Three fourths of a mile—Middlestone won in 1 15 Cretna second Chillwood third

THE AMERICANS WON THE CRICKET MATCH

EDINBURGH, July 9—The cricket game between the Philadelphia and Scottish teams was concluded to day, and resulted in a victory for the Americans

THE SIOUX COMMISSION.

The Results of Their Work at the Crow Creek Agency Not Favorable

CROW CREEK AGENCY, S. D. (via Chamberlin, S D) July 9—There was another council this afternoon White Ghost, Drifting Ghost, and Bull Ghost spoke on the part of the Indians. They complained generally of the failure of the government to treat them justly, that they formerly owned a vast territory, and that their land had dwindled, without their getting anything for it until they had but little left, and now they were asked to sell a part of that.

Governor Foster, Major Warner and General Crook each spoke, giving the reason why the act of congress should be accepted, acknowledging that the Indians had doubtless grounds to complain of their past treatment which it was impossible now to rectify and that whatever had been the action in the past now the government proposed to treat them fairly. At the conclusion of the council those in favor of the bill began signing.

It is impossible to say just what the result will be, but at this hour the prospects for getting the requisite three-fourths is not encouraging The lines are apparently drawn as last year although there is less of bitter feeling between the two factions

THE MACKAY BENNETT CABLE CO.

An Amalgamation Formed With the French Atlantic System

HALIFAX July 9—The management and operation of the French cable from Sydney to St Pierre, and thence to France, has been taken over by the Mackay Bennett Company

George C Ward the Mackay Bennett New York manager is now in Nova Scotia superintending the amalgamation of the French company's land lines from Louisburg where the cable lines to Sydney have been dismantled, and the cable steamer has laid a new cable from the main land at Louisburg to Fox island

The Mackay Bennett and French companies have entered into an amalgamation, which will be a rival to the cable pool They have, it is said, formed connections with the Canadian Pacific telegraph system In a few weeks the Canadian Pacific land lines will have completed their connection with the cables at Canso In order to have another independent connection with the United States, a new cable is to be immediately laid between Canso and Boston

THE GALLOWS STILL STAND.

Three New York Murderers Will Be Hanged in August.

NEW YORK, July 9—Judge Cowing this morning sentenced three murderers to be hanged the same day August 22, in this city Two killed their mistresses, and one cut his wife's throat with a razor because she refused him money to buy whisky. All tried to escape the gallows through a loop hole in the enactment of the electrical execution law, which is supposed to have abolished hanging in this state All three will hang on the same gallows.

APPLE PIE AND RATS.

How a Crowd of Tammany Braves Were Amazed.

NEW YORK, July 9—On account of being appointed to a local office, Henry J. Appel jr, was given a small banquet last evening The invitations sent out said it was an "apple pie" reception The invitation did not belie the occasion The apple pie that was built for the guests was five feet in circumference and two feet in depth The crust was two inches thick, Over 100 Tammany braves surrounded this pie when it was cut They were all hungry When a tunnel had been dug into the monster pie a dozen large rats skipped out and there was a rush for chairs and the hallway The pie had been on exhibition and the rats had gotten into the pie by gnawing a hole in the bottom The Tammanyites' stomachs revolted and they refused to eat the pie

THE [illegible] TOO GREAT.

Even General Sherman's Friendship Could Not Save General Johnston

WASHINGTON July 9—Ever since the inauguration [illegible] has been looking for some office for [illegible] Taylor of Wisconsin [illegible] Spooner [illegible] to the president [illegible] to have Taylor taken care of [illegible] commissioner of railroads and filled by his friend

This office ever since [illegible] years ago has been held by General Joseph E Johnston the military leader of the Confederacy. General Johnston like all other prominent officials of the old administration, sent a formal letter of resignation to President Harrison on March 4th, but he was extremely anxious to retain office and he begged his friends to use their influence to prevent its acceptance Among others who interested themselves in his behalf was General Tecumseh Sherman who came to Washington, dined at the White house and made a special request of the president to retain General Johnston in office General Sherman said this was all he would ask of the administration and he begged very hard While the president did not make any promise General Sherman came away with an impression that Johnston would not be disturbed, and he is a good deal surprised at Taylor's appointment

CORRUPT LEGISLATORS.

An Investigation Begun by the Denver Grand Jury

DENVER, July 9—It is learned that most of the time of the present grand jury has been occupied in the investigation of the charges of corruption made against certain state officials and members of the last legislature regarding the purchase of furniture for the capitol building, stationery and other supplies for members of the assembly and the public printing which during the ninety days of the session aggregated in the neighborhood of $60 000

In the absence of the secretary of state James Rice, who is in the East, the grand jury demanded of his deputy J J Wyatt, the keys to the rooms where the furniture in question is said to be stored, for the purpose of examining [illegible] investigations Mr Wyatt disregarded the demands of the jury and was arrested for contempt To day he was arraigned before Judge [illegible] of the criminal court and was found guilty and sentenced to ten days in the county jail and fined $100 His honor concluded by saying that he would remit the jail sentence, providing Wyatt turned over the keys on or before 4 P M to morrow It is understood that the defendant will carry the matter to the higher court.

THE BURKE EXTRADITION CASE.

The Evidence For the Prosecution All Submitted.

WINNIPEG July 9—In the Burke extradition case to day Carlson who arrived from Chicago by the noon train identified Burke as Frank Williams the man who rented the cottage where Cronin was murdered. This was the point that the prosecution desired to establish namely that Frank Williams and Martin Burke were one and the same man

Before being cross examined witness said that he had been taken out into the court house yard by Officer Collins before coming into court to see if he could recognize the prisoner He had also recognized him from the group photographed in Chicago

Mr Howell said "That is our case your lordship" This announcement was received with a hum of satisfaction by all connected with the case Even Burke gave a sigh of relief

At the conclusion of the reading of the evidence to the prisoner to night Burke entered a plea of not guilty The arguments in the case will be heard to morrow

Advices Received at Cairo Concerning Col. Wadehouse's Movements.

CAIRO, July 9—Advices received to day are to the effect that Colonel Wadehouse and cavalry occupied the camp of the enemy, and found it deserted by all except several women and children, who were dying from thirst and exhaustion. The enemy surprised and killed a picket belonging to the Ninth Battalion. No reinforcements had passed Wady Halfa.

Other advices say that the force under Colonel Wadehouse arrived at Adenda last night. The Dervishes occupied a position on the opposite bank, and a sharp engagement ensued The Dervishes were after water and managed to secure a supply, although many of their number succumbed to the fierce artillery and rifle fire kept up by the Egyptians. Also, several casualties occurred among the Egyptians.

NESTUCCA NOTES.

The Hay Crop Light This Year—Transportation Facilities Greatly Needed.

NESTUCCA, Or July 8.

The weather is fine at present and has been for several weeks. We have no cause as yet to complain of the heat. We do not have much hot weather here during the summer nor much cold weather during the winter, Sometimes it gets a little chilly. Our climate is very mild and uniform, much more so than places farther away from the coast. We do not hear any objections to the climate except to the moisture during the winter months, and that is a necessity This country requires a good deal of moisture and it gets it.

The hay crop is good but not so abundant as some years Farmers pasture their meadows too late in the spring to get the best crops, especially if the season should be dry Stock is often allowed to remain on the meadows until the middle of May. This necessarily makes the crops short. But it is not the case with all the farmers. The hay harvest then commences in July sometimes in June. As soon as the hay comes off, the stock goes back to the meadow again to remain until the next May, and so on. It will be only a few years until the Nestucca can export quite a large amount of hay What is needed is better transportation facilities to a market.

Woods is the principal town in the southern part of the county. It is located near the beach, and is improving some this [illegible] buildings are going up at present.

AFTER THE BATTLE.

The Brutal Crowd Had No Pity for Kilrain.

BUT HE FOUGHT A GOOD FIGHT

Scenes and Incidents in the Ring and at New Orleans

NEITHER MAN WAS MUCH HURT

Sullivan Says He Will Fight No More—Kilrain Was a Sick Man When He Entered the Ring—Opinion of Pugilists

NEW ORLEANS, July 9.—When the preliminary work was begun both principals began to strip.

Sullivan was already arrayed for the encounter and had only to remove his sweater, revealing his magnificent body pink with the glow of health and in the perfection of condition. His chest and back looked as big as the side of a house, and an involuntary buzz of admiration circulated through the crowd when his massive frame was displayed in its towering immensity. He wore green knee breeches, white socks and spiked shoes. An American flag encircled his waist like a sash, but did not cover the pine pitch plaster heretofore described.

Kilrain wore a plaster of similar construction, but not so perfectly adjusted as Sullivan's. Kilrain was attired in black tights, blue socks and spiked shoes. When Kilrain's bare form was displayed to the multitude, there were audible expressions of disappointment. His skin was of a pale sickly hue, his chest narrow and the muscles of his arms somewhat too salient. Shrewd observers thought him a shade too fine and it was painfully evident that he was no match for Sullivan either in condition or physical power.

It is claimed that he weighs 190 pounds and that his antagonist tipped the beam at 205. This seemed hardly credible. There was not less than twenty-five to thirty pounds difference in their weight in Sullivan's favor.

PROGRESS OF THE FIGHT

At First There Was Little Blood, but Later the Scene Was Revolting

NEW ORLEANS, July 9.—The earlier rounds of the prize fight were not as revolting as is ordinarily supposed. During the entire progress of the seventy-five rounds of the battle the combatants showed any outward sign of severe physical punishment. There was not that abundant flow of blood from the nose or mouth which embellishes the accounts of "scraps" between third rate fighters.

Sullivan had his ear split, both of his eyes bunged and his neck scratched, and his hands disabled, but he evinced no outward symptoms of suffering.

Kilrain's lip was cut, his left ear smashed and his short ribs severely pounded, but he bled to a very inconsiderable extent and only a big bruise, the size of a man's hand, showed where Sullivan's terrific right hand had repeatedly jabbed him.

Later in the fight, when Kilrain began to grow weak in the legs and arms and tottered about, the helpless victim of Sullivan's superior, but greatly diminished muscular force, then the spectacle became not only revolting but pitiable.

Sullivan seems to have profited from his experience. He evidently abandoned his rushing tactics. He did not rush to any noticeable extent, but when he did his agile and wiry antagonist, before he began to weaken, invariably landed on his jaw or cheek or some other equally available locality. Sullivan was constantly aggressive, but there was an absence of that furious impetuosity for which he has become noted. He had learned to respect Kilrain's arm by repute, and his knowledge on that point was greatly enriched yesterday by his actual experience.

GOOD WORK FOR KILRAIN.

He is Sullivan's Superior in Wrestling and Boxing—Plucky and Game

One thing is evident: Sullivan is no match for Kilrain either as a wrestler or a boxer. Give Kilrain Sullivan's immeasurable driving power and expanse of chest and shoulder and no man could stand against him. Kilrain's pluck and gameness was the admiration of those who understand ring strategy and true endurance.

The Baltimore man was whipped in the third round. Sullivan got in a fierce blow on his side under the heart from which he never recovered. An ordinary man would have thrown up the sponge in the next round. Kilrain's seconds themselves acknowledge that the fight was over then, but with the indifference and pluck of a hero Kilrain continued the unequal struggle and administered many slogging blows to his adversary, and yet in spite of this an indiscriminating crowd mistaking caution and strategy for cowardice, yelled at Kilrain, calling him "cur" and "coward" when he sought to avoid Sullivan's blows by dodging or when he tried to outwind him by retreating before him all around the ring.

SULLIVAN'S COWARDLY FOUL

It is undeniably true that after the ninth round, when suffering excruciating pain from his bruise under the heart and repeated knockdowns, Kilrain did lay himself open to the charge of "Foul" by falling down when not apparently knocked down. These fouls were repeatedly claimed but never allowed by the referee. But all this and more was made up and overbalanced in the thirty-second round when Kilrain, being down, was deliberately and unequivocally fouled by Sullivan, who jumped upon him with both knees when he lay prostrated before him. It was as unmanly an act as was ever done in the ring and should have resulted in an award of the fight to Kilrain. Any fair minded referee with the courage of his convictions and the knowledge of his duty would not have hesitated an instant, but the "foul" was not allowed and the half whipped man was jeered and hooted at by the crowd. He continued to come up smiling every time, although the certainty of more fearful punishment to come stared him in the face. Even after the final round, Kilrain was ready to again come to the scratch, but his seconds, fearing direful results, threw up the sponge for him. These were the men who buoyed him up throughout the fight by picturing to him the effect of defeat upon his wife and children. It was not deemed strange then that when Kilrain was seated in his car on his homeward journey, sore and bleeding and brooding over his defeat, the big tears rolled down his cheeks and melted the hearts even of the rough men who accompanied him.

The day was full of unpleasant incidents. The hoodlum element, although in the minority, did nearly all of the shouting and cowed an already defeated man by their savage shouts and yells for more blood. In the thirty-fourth round they hissed him for retreating, a perfectly legitimate feature of ring tactics. In the thirty-fifth round they hissed him for a similar cause and shouted to the referee to "make him fight." In the thirty-sixth they hooted at the repetition of these tactics.

INCIDENTS OF THE FIGHT

The Brutal Crowd Had No Pity on the Sufferings of Kilrain

Weak as he was when they got into close quarters Kilrain would now and then get in a lick that would make the Boston fighter acknowledge his prowess.

In the fifty-second round the crowd shouted to Kilrain: "I'll fight you, cur," although he was then making a fight that would have made any five of them run.

In the sixtieth round one in the crowd shouted: "Hurrah for Kilrain," but the response was feeble. But when Sullivan got in a telling blow the crowd needed no cue to yell and cheer with delight.

In the fifty-second round the sun reappeared and added to Kilrain's distress. He was visibly weakening and hitting wild, but whenever time was called he came up smiling a forced smile perhaps, but all the same a smile. The brutality of the crowd increased with Kilrain's discomfiture.

In the sixty-fourth round they yelled to Sullivan: "Finish him," and some one shouted: "Kill him."

Sullivan fought the battle of his life and with the exception of the thirty-second round fought fairly and squarely. He also took the punishment like a Spartan and never lost his confidence and nerve. One finger of either hand was broken in the fight, but no one discovered it but his seconds. He showed no signs of tiring until toward the end, when he had to be helped to his feet when time was called.

There were periods in the fight, even long after the eventful third round, when the issue was in doubt. Had Kilrain been in condition, the result might have been different.

Just before the fight the sheriff of Marion county came and commanded the peace. Bud Renaud, the manager, replied: "That's all right, Mr Sheriff, you have done your duty," and then the fight went on.

As soon as the sponge was thrown up Muldoon and Cleary threw a blanket over the stalwart form of the victor and rushed and pushed him across the ring towards the entrance to the press stand. Loud yells greeted the champion and an excited crowd of men and boys followed them closely.

Sullivan, despite earnest protestation, was pushed into the road towards the barouche and driven to the depot to a special car.

A ditch had to be crossed in order to reach the coach. Across this the champion sprang lightly, followed by Muldoon and Cleary. Sullivan had received blows on each of the and his left ear was bleeding where Kilrain had planted a cutting blow. His eyes were swollen and discolored and his cheek was bleeding.

On reaching the coach the doors were closed and shortly thereafter the special train containing the Associated Press representatives and the Kilrain party was detached from that containing the Sullivan party and proceeded to the city, leaving Sullivan's special car at Richburg. The coach was attached to the first regular train and [illegible] reached the city at night, when the champion was conveyed to his quarters by his friends and seconds.

Just after the fight Sullivan said to Barnett and some of his friends that he was sorry for Kilrain, and while of course he was very much pleased with his victory he hoped that Kilrain had not been seriously hurt and that he would soon be around again.

Sullivan reached his boarding house shortly after 10 o'clock and quietly slipped in.

THE CHAMPION TALKS

He Says He Will Never Enter the Ring Again—A Kind Word for Kilrain

NEW ORLEANS, July 9.—John L. Sullivan, who was seen immediately after being conveyed to his special car, was in the best of humor, and while not talking a great deal always made agreeable replies to any and all questions put to him by his friends or representatives of the press. He said among other things that he would never enter the ring again under any consideration. He had done his share of slogging during his rather brief career in the fistic arena and he wanted no more of it. He certainly did not intend to fight the California negro, for the simple reason that he considered it entirely too degrading for a white man to place himself on an equality with a negro.

His references to Kilrain and his fighting qualifications were of the most pleasant character, concluding with the remark that he (Sullivan) had got a more effective thumping in his contest with Kilrain than ever in his life before.

Owing to the dislocation of a knuckle on the first finger of the left hand, which occurred in the seventh round, he was compelled to make the remainder of the fight almost single handed.

WHAT OTHER PEOPLE SAY

Charley Mitchell: "I'm going to challenge Sullivan to fight for $5000 a side within three or four months."

Parson Davies of Chicago said: "It was a good fight. Kilrain is as good and as game a man as ever stepped into the ring. I don't think Sullivan was ever in better form. He can thank Muldoon, who is a great general."

W. B. Masterson of Denver, a Kilrain man, said: "I don't believe anybody can lick Sullivan unless it is Mitchell. It was a slashing good and game fight."

Charley Johnson, one of Sullivan's backers, said of Kilrain: "He is the best man to fight for a man's money I ever saw."

Pony Moore said: "I am disappointed. He was not in condition. The third round did the work. English people will be disappointed."

Joe Coburn thought the fight a most excellent exhibition of manly art. He looks upon Sullivan as a perfect wonder and beyond all peradventure the greatest fighter in the world. At first he was surprised that Sullivan did not knock out Kilrain sooner, but this was satisfactorily explained when the injuries to the champion's left hand were made known. He did not think that Sullivan was as good a man yesterday as he had seen him in other fights, but was satisfied that he would never be asked to fight again.

His training under Muldoon and Cleary was admirable and its result surpassing all expectation, especially as when he was first put to work he was in a wretched condition and there was then nothing of him but life, and Muldoon, instead of training him at once, nursed him as if he was a child. Coburn calculates that Sullivan's share of the mill will net him about $20,000. Said Coburn: "Were I called on to fight Sullivan when his blanket was taken off and his matchless proportions displayed I would say: Sullivan, take the money, I don't want it, it belongs to you."

Muldoon expressed himself as delighted beyond measure with the result of the day's battle with the big gladiator himself and the balance of the world.

DOESN'T WANT FOX'S BELT

NEW ORLEANS, July 9.—Sullivan says that he will not accept Fox's belt either for his bulldog or himself. He feels that it is not necessary to establish the fact that he is the champion pugilist. He will remain here several days as a guest. This evening he will be driven to his reception tendered by the Young Men's Athletic Club.

KILRAIN'S CONDITION NOT DANGEROUS

NEW ORLEANS, July 9.—Kilrain is suffering quite severely this morning, but his backers say that no bones are broken, and that he will be all right shortly. There are various rumors in regard to his condition, in circulation. Reports are flying about that he is dying. There is no truth whatever in these, though Kilrain is rather badly hurt internally.

Governor Lowry of Mississippi, it is rumored, has issued a proclamation in which he states that he will extradite all participants in the fight and especially Sullivan, Kilrain and the seconds. Sullivan's friends, however, will probably interfere with the arrest, [illegible] for his protection, and the champion is being kept secluded.

It is reported that Kilrain was seriously sick before the fight, his ailment being of a private nature. Mitchell is supposed to know the truth, but he is [illegible] of it.

MULDOON'S OPINION

Ring Fighting Is Too Brutal and He Is Through With It

NEW ORLEANS, July 9.—William Muldoon, the wrestler, who trained Sullivan for the fight, had this to say to an Associated Press reporter today, when asked his opinion of the fight: "My impression is that it was the greatest fight that ever took place between heavyweights. The fighting was fast and furious all through, and I don't think the man was ever born who could have whipped Sullivan yesterday. He did not know at the end of the fight that he had fought for over half an hour. He was as strong as when the fight commenced and could have fought two hours longer if necessary. He refrained from needlessly fast fighting by my advice, as I did not want him to meet with any accident. I consider Kilrain the greatest heavyweight fighter living outside of Sullivan. He is a game, determined fellow, and I think if he had fought according to his own judgment instead of taking the cowardly and tricky advice of the men who were behind him, he would not have been hissed by the people present, and the American public would have more to admire in him today than at any time since he came into prominence. I don't think he was in condition for a hard fight in this hot climate. He was trained too fine and soon became very weak.

"I allowed my man seven pounds to lose in the fight, and after the battle was over he was just six and a quarter pounds lighter than when he entered the ring. He was not a bit tired, was cheerful and in no way injured. My advice to him is to live the balance of his life slow and easy and never again to enter the ring as a principal. He is now restored to perfect health and may yet live long and enjoy good health if he will only take care of himself. If he fails to do that he has no one to blame for it but himself. I have always been anxious to prove to the public that he is a natural born fighter and could fight a long and scientific battle if necessary, provided he was properly handled and put in good condition. Now that I have done that I am through forever with all ring fights. I never again want to see a man knocked about and punished as Kilrain was yesterday. I think boxing a grand exercise and will do all that I can to encourage it, but I think ring fighting is too brutal and I want to see no more of it."

KILRAIN WAS A SICK MAN

His Backers Greatly Regret That They Invited Him to New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, July 9.—[illegible] and their friends who have created such a great furor here for the past week or two have all left the city, and the population is gradually quieting down and all are assuming a normal condition.

Kilrain, who was believed to have received such terrible punishment about the body, appeared this morning as fresh as a daisy. After his return from the battlefield he was conveyed to the Southern Athletic club rooms and given a bath, after which he retired to his rooms. He vomited a greenish substance, some of which has been kept for analysis in order to determine whether he had been dosed, as he intimated, or not. Every convenience and accommodation was accorded him.

Rumors that Kilrain had been suffering from diseases have been freely circulated, and in order to satisfy himself whether this was true or not the janitor watched Kilrain. He was evidently suffering great physical pain and appeared to walk with difficulty. The janitor was finally convinced that not only were the reports true, but that Kilrain had recently had a surgical operation performed. Dr Dougherty of Philadelphia had been attending to him and Kilrain had been taking medicine ever since his arrival here. In fact on the day of his arrival he was seen taking medicine from a vial, but at this time it was believed to be some preparation which was intended to assist him into getting into condition for the fight. Dr Dougherty states to some of the members of the club that he had been treating Kilrain for a boil from which he had been suffering sometime.

These facts only became known in the club today and the consequence was a revision of opinion in regard to Kilrain, and some of the members remarked when he had gone that they wished they had never invited him. Professor Donovan stated that he did not know anything of this prior to the fight, otherwise he would have had nothing to do with it and would not have allowed Jake Kilrain to enter the ring. Since this fact became known Kilrain's sluggish movements while walking, his disinclination to strip and his aversion to taking exercise, as well as Mitchell's care that he should not take any, and Kilrain's troubled looks, his rather cadaverous face, in fact his strange actions, words and looks are all attributed to this.

WAS THE FIGHT A FAKE?

Professor Robinson, who is in charge of the pupils of the Southern athletic club, who witnessed the fight, stated openly on the train while returning that the fight was a colossal fake from beginning to end, and that Sullivan and Kilrain were both parties to it. This explains Sullivan's magnanimity towards Kilrain. Sullivan had him at his mercy several times during the fight when he could easily have knocked him out. Robinson professes to know all about sparring and has seen a number of prize fights and is competent to judge.

His assertions have been made openly to the members of the club and have evoked no little comment. Some allege that he is mistaken. Far too many blows were hit and the principals received too much punishment.

Kilrain rose this forenoon and decided to take a bath in the swimming tank, but was not permitted to do so. At an early hour the guests of the club gathered together their wardrobes and commenced packing up, and at 7:15 o'clock Kilrain, Mitchell, Murphy, Pony Moore and Dr Dougherty left in carriages for the Texas & Pacific depot and boarding the train left for the North via Texas, in order to avoid going through Mississippi, where they feared arrest. Mr Stevenson, Kilrain's backer, left the city yesterday afternoon via the Queen & Crescent line for his home.

Kilrain was not suffering the least inconvenience from the body blows he had received, and was sounded by Dr Dougherty, who tapped him in the ribs and with his fingers without causing Kilrain much pain.

Marsh Redon of this city has deposited $100 to make a fight between the St Joe Kid and Fallon of Brooklyn for from $1000 to $2500 a side, the fight to take place in November within 200 miles of New Orleans. William E Harding to be the stake holder and appoint the referee.

A RIDICULOUS FIASCO

The Governors of Mississippi and Louisiana Severely Scored

NEW ORLEANS, July 9.—The States says editorially: "The marvelous military genius displayed by Governor Lowry, of Mississippi, and Governor Nichols of Louisiana in their combined efforts to suppress the Sullivan-Kilrain prize fight served but to call attention to as flagrant a violation of law and order as was ever committed. If Governor Lowry, after his [illegible] can, they put his wits together now to issue a requisition upon the governor of any state where Sullivan and Kilrain and their followers may be found and have them apprehended and brought back to Mississippi to be punished according to the law, the example he shall then set will do more to correct the effects of yesterday's fiasco than [illegible] use of all the armies of Louisiana and Mississippi, which yet [illegible] [illegible] ridicule to the [illegible] of this funny pair of governors."

SULLIVAN STILL IN THE CITY

He Is Slightly Intoxicated but Has Made No Bad Display

NEW ORLEANS, July 9.—John L. Sullivan, William Muldoon and [illegible] are still in the city and are at their old quarters on Rampart street.

At about half past 9 o'clock Sullivan was presented with a large wreath of flowers representing a horse shoe. Sullivan acknowledged the gift in a very brief speech. Sullivan returned to his room at about 11 o'clock. He was then somewhat under the influence of liquor and four policemen stood at the corner in case he committed any overt act.

Chief of Police Hennessy and John Fitzpatrick, who was referee in the fight, visited him. Fitzpatrick only remained a few moments. It is said that Sullivan and Cleary will leave the city tomorrow morning on the steamship Hudson for New York.

SMITH CHALLENGES SULLIVAN

LONDON, July 9.—Smith has challenged Sullivan to fight in Europe for £1000 a side.

TALK IN BOSTON

With One Voice the Ministry Denounces the Contest

SAN FRANCISCO, July 9.—The Examiner's special from Boston says: The Sullivan-Kilrain fight continues to be the reigning topic of conversation. Even the preachers cannot refrain from its discussion. A number of them were seen today. Here is what some of them said:

Rev Wm McDonald, editor of the Christian Witness: "It is a most brutal affair—a reproach to civilization which should be frowned down upon by every good citizen."

Rev Judson Smith, secretary of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions: "I think it is a blot upon us and wish we could see the end of it. It is a shameful thing."

Rev Dr Mark Trafton: "Such disgraceful exhibitions must be condemned by every one who loves either man or God."

Rev I K Alden: "There is but one opinion of it: it is most disgraceful. If this thing is kept up our country will lose prestige."

Rev Dr Dexter, editor of the Congregationalist: "It is too bad that the papers should give so much space to describing every movement of such men, whose exhibitions are brutalizing and demoralizing."

Secretary C H Spaulding of the American Baptist Publication Society: "It is a national humiliation. The saddest thing about it to me is the eagerness with which people seemed to scan the papers this morning for news of the fight."

Rev Dr Olmstead, editor in chief of the Watchman: "It is barbaric. It would be innocuous were it not for the blazonry of the publicity given to it."

Rev C J Ryder, secretary of the American Missionary Association: "It is a miserable thing and a disgrace to us all, and the worst thing which could happen among the black people of the South among whom we labor."

Rev Dr J B Dunn: "It is brutal. It could be nothing else."

HOW THE FIGHT WAS REPORTED

The Enterprise and Ability of the Associated Press Again Displayed

NEW ORLEANS, July 8.—The complete report of the prize fight, as furnished by the Associated Press in advance of all competition, is due to the organization of the force employed for the event. The men who did the work were well qualified and to them is due all praise for the success which attended their efforts.

A corps of reporters were brought from Memphis, Tenn., consisting of Messrs. Simon I. Barinds and Nathan Vickard of the Daily Appeal and J. J. Hogan of the Evening Scimitar. These gentlemen were selected for their ability and knowledge of sporting events. Messrs. Vickard and Barinds did the descriptive work, while to Mr Hogan, who is an authority on athletic sports, was detailed the work of the ring. In this specialty Mr Hogan had to assist him Mr William Beattie, a well known stenographer of New Orleans, and the work of these two enabled the Associated Press to give each round fought in detail, and it is official.

Among the sports of the great mill in addition to those already named, Mr. Walker Ross, sporting editor of the Evening States, and Mr Chris Lindauer of this city also contributed no little aid in supplying many valuable contributions to the voluminous reports sent out preliminary to the fight.

When the night manager of the Associated Press from Chicago arrived in New Orleans last Friday morning, accompanied by an assistant, his first move in conjunction with Mr J F McDaniel, the New Orleans correspondent of the Associated Press, was to hire a special train which had been agreed upon in Chicago to be used in the transportation of their corps from and to the fight.

At that time it was thought that the battle would probably take place within an hour's run of New Orleans. Subsequent events, however, proved the thoughtfulness of such a scheme. Today, when no telegraphic services could be secured, the special train of the Associated Press brought to New Orleans the first tidings of the fight, and two hours in advance of the regular trains which took out the excursionists. From Richburg, Miss., to New Orleans, a distance of 105 miles, was made in 3 hours and 10 minutes.

THE PARNELL CASE

A Member of Parliament's Views on Boycotting—Crime Denounced

LONDON, July 9.—At the meeting of the Parnell commission today Byrne, member of parliament, was a witness. He was questioned concerning a speech which, according to a statement of the Times, he made at Waterford. Byrne declared that he had never been in Waterford. [Laughter.]

Hayne, M. P., also gave testimony and said that he believed in boycotting and would carry it to the extent of refusing to sell a man the necessaries of life. If he wanted such necessities he must conform to the views of his neighbors and not endeavor to frustrate their efforts.

John O'Connor, another member of parliament, testified. He denounced crime, which he regarded as an enemy of the league. He had no sympathy with "moonlighters" and had no reason to shield them.

He declined to answer a question as to whether he met John Devoy and others in Ireland in 1879.

Presiding Justice Hannon said: "These excuses are not tenable in a court of justice. A man binds himself by an illegal oath and then thinks he is not bound to give evidence in a court. We do not propose to take measures which are within our power, but it must influence our judgment to find that we are obstructed at every point."

The witness still refused to answer, persisting that it would not be honorable to divulge interviews which he had in connection with Fenianism.

THE PESTIFEROUS SPARROW

Something of Interest About These Destructive Little Winged Pirates

A Book Issued Which Furnishes a Complete History of the Bird, Statistics—Its Habits—Great Fecundity, Etc

> The ewe was a-blooming, the sparrow
> In his life of sorrow,
> While the blooming ... down
> And he had the bloom he ... won
> —[illegible]

Everybody has heard of the English sparrow and knows something of the many odd qualities attributed to this insignificant but pestiferous bird, but there are very few who know all about it. To supply this lack of knowledge in the many a book has just been issued from the government printing office which is probably the largest, most complete and exhaustive work on sparrows ever issued in any country.

The book is entitled "The English Sparrow (Passer Domesticus) in North America, Especially in Its Relations to Agriculture."

It was prepared under the direction of Dr C. Hart Merriam, ornithologist, contains 405 pages and is Bulletin 1, division of economic ornithology and mammalogy.

IT IS A PLAGUE OF A BIRD

It sheds on the question of sparrows a flood of light in the blaze of which the latest and largest of electric lamps would appear as a rushlight, and is calculated to convey the impression that compared with the sparrow all the plagues of Egypt consolidated would be but a trifle light as air.

The reading of this extensive and carefully prepared book brings up in all its pristine force and freshness the old conundrum propounded by the young lady to her lover as to whether it were better to have worms or sparrows. The book opens with an account of the introduction of the sparrow into the United States, and proceeds to show the methods of its diffusive rate of increase and spread of the birds, etc.

The Brooklyn institute is entitled to the honor of having introduced the sparrows. A small lot was brought over in 1851, but did not thrive, and in 1852 $200 was subscribed to defray the expenses of bringing over a large lot, which did well, and since that time they have been introduced in various cities of the East, and the marvelous rapidity of the sparrows' multiplication, the surpassing swiftness of its extension and the prodigious size of the area over which it has spread are without parallel in the history of any bird.

HOW THEY INCREASE

Accompanying the book is a map showing the distribution of the sparrows at the end of 1886, the country occupied by them being painted red. It shows that at that date the sparrow had established itself in thirty-five states and five territories, and the territory invaded amounted to over 16,000 square miles.

Several pages are devoted to statements in regard to the rapid increase of the sparrow, which show that its fecundity is remarkable. One pair will raise twelve pairs of young ones in one season, and a calculation is made which shows that if all the birds lived and did well one pair would increase in ten years to 275,716,983,698.

This is enough to make one's head swim, and the reader passes with pleasure to the next department, which treats of "checks on the increase of the sparrow." In this relation are considered the natural enemies of the sparrow, man, cats, hawks, jays, etc., and disease, which tends to reduce their numbers when they become extremely abundant. In this connection is also considered the effects of public opinion, legislation, shooting, poisoning, trapping, nest destroying and the use of the sparrow for food. It is stated that during the last half dozen years sparrows have been used as an article of food in many places in this country, as they have been in Europe for centuries, and that the demand for them for this purpose has lessened their numbers somewhat about a few cities. About Philadelphia.

IMMENSE NUMBERS ARE KILLED

In the autumn when feeding on seeds of reeds in the marshes and prepared and sold as reed birds by the restaurants. In Albany, N. Y., sparrows were regularly quoted in the markets in the fall of 188- at $1 per hundred.

This is a higher price than was paid for sparrows in the time of Christ, although there is some doubt as to what the price was then, as Matthew, reporting a sermon preached by Christ to his apostles, quotes him as saying: "Are not two sparrows sold for a farthing?", while Luke, in his report of the same sermon, makes his Master say: "Are not five sparrows sold for two farthings?" In regard to the numbers marketed at Albany one lad shot 135 out of one flock on the outskirts of the city, and a well known game dealer in a week handled 1700 and another 3800. They make excellent pot pie and are regarded as fine eating by those who have tried them.

DAMAGES COMMITTED BY SPARROWS

Everything connected with the sparrow is treated in extenso in this work, but the section in regard to the injuries inflicted by this bird is especially full, occupying 100 pages. Any synopsis of this section here would be impracticable. This section begins with injury to buds, blossoms and foliage and goes on through fruits, garden seeds and vegetables till one begins to imagine this ornithological terror is bound to lay waste the whole country. Among the fruits it is accused of injuring are grapes and other small fruits, apples, pears, peaches and other fruits, and the list of vegetables includes peas, corn, lettuce, cabbage and others, and they are also charged with destroying the seeds of lettuce, cabbage, turnip, sunflower, grass and weeds, wheat, oats, rye, barley, sorghum, rice, buckwheat.

Reports from all parts of the country where sparrows abound are given in regard to all the vegetables, seeds, fruits, etc., above mentioned. Some are mildly favorable to the sparrow. One man, editor of a Kentucky farmer's paper, says: "If the amount the sparrow saves were weighed against what he eats the former would outweigh the latter many times. The destruction of insects in the spring might increase the yield one or more bushels per acre, yet it could not be seen, but when the sparrow takes some wheat from the bundle which lies on top of the shock it is seen by all."

RELATION OF SPARROWS TO OTHER BIRDS

No pains have been spared in collecting evidence on this question, and a mass of testimony has been collected which is submitted with perfect confidence that no candid reader will ever again deny that the sparrow molests our native birds. Over 3300 reports were received on this point, of which 168 were in the main favorable to the sparrow and 1847 in the main unfavorable. These reports show that the sparrow molests, drives from their nests, destroys the eggs or young, and otherwise maltreats the bluebird, wren, swallow, robin, mocking bird and other birds, tending to show that the sparrow is quarrelsome, pugnacious and mean generally, in short a regular hoodlum bird.

RELATION OF SPARROWS TO INSECTS

The vexed question of the insect-eating habits of the sparrow is one of the most important ones to be decided, and a careful study of this matter has been made, as on the decision many rest their arguments for or against the bird. Particular pains have been taken to give every possible fact in favor of the bird, and the sparrow has been given the benefit of the doubt every time. The author, however, is without doubt prejudiced against the sparrow and goes on to remark that unfortunately for the sparrow the result of all investigation shows plainly that it is not a habitual insect eater and that it does not prefer insect food. This too is said in the face of the fact that of 5?? reports received on the question 1?? were mainly favorable to the sparrow and 1?18 mainly unfavorable, while sixty are classed as about equally divided and 126 as of no practical value.

A list of about 140 kinds of insects is given which are said to be eaten by sparrows, and a long chapter, based on the contents of sparrows' stomachs and a tabular statement of their food as shown by dissection, which shows that they eat about everything that has wings and legs. This department concludes with a chapter on miscellaneous injuries, in which a general summary of every bad habit of the sparrow is made and which concludes with a bitter attack on the musical powers of the sparrow, in which it is alleged that he is no singer and that the ceaseless discordant chatter of a flock of sparrows can only be characterized as a nuisance.

AFTER THE BIRD'S SCALP

The remainder of the book is devoted to recommendations for legislation against the sparrow, the expediency of offering bounties for its destruction and general suggestions as to the use of fire arms, traps, poison, destruction of nests, etc., etc. Also a list of experiments in the use of strychnine, tincture of nux vomica, corrosive sublimate, white arsenic, arseniate of soda, Fowler's solution, London purple, Paris green, etc., and an illustrated article on trapping sparrows and a lot of other matter which if the sparrows could read they would leave the country in disgust.

THE TERRITORY CONQUERED

The map showing the territory conquered by the sparrow in the United States shows that west of the Mississippi they have captured only the state of Missouri and a part of Kansas, Iowa and Arkansas, and the cities of Salt Lake and San Francisco.

HE IS A STRANGER IN OREGON

Here in Oregon fortunately we know nothing of them as yet, although some three or four were brought here and released a few years since, which it is hoped perished.

It is therefore hardly competent that an opinion should be expressed by THE OREGONIAN in regard to the sparrow, but it is difficult to imagine how the bird can be such a dangerous and destructive pest as is represented. The sparrow has been a native of Europe and Great Britain no one knows how long, and yet people live there and raise crops and grow rich.

The sparrow certainly destroys worms and insects when they are in season. When there are none it eats seeds, etc. The good it does cannot be estimated, the harm it does is probably overestimated. Never having had worms or sparrows bad, let us pray that we may be delivered from both.

FROM BAKER CITY

Departure of the Princeton Geologists—A Carload of Flour Sent to Johnstown

BAKER CITY, July 8.—Professor W. B. Scott, of Princeton, N. J., has started on his trip to John Day Basin to investigate the vast fossil deposits of that section and make a geological survey of the country lying between the Blue and Cascade range of mountains. The professor is accompanied by nine students of Princeton College, whose expenses are paid and outfits furnished by the state of New Jersey. The party purchased their horses and provisions at this place and expect to spend at least two months in examining the country and collecting specimens for Princeton museum.

The citizens of Baker City have not been behind others in contributing to the Johnstown sufferers. They forwarded a full carload of flour. Upon each sack the following label was printed: "Fine Flour. For the Johnstown sufferers. From Baker City, Or." The different lines of railroads over which this flour is transported deserve great credit for passing it to its destination free of charge.

Flattering reports are coming from all sections of our mining country. J. Durkee has returned from Burnt river district bringing wonderfully rich specimens from a free gold ledge of which he is one of the owners.

The Greenhorn mountain district is attracting a great deal of attention, a very extensive antimonial silver deposit having lately been discovered there of wonderful richness. A one half interest in this find was sold the other day to J. J. Smith, representing Milwaukee, Wis., capitalists.

The stonework foundation of the Washauer hotel is already completed and brick laying will begin soon.

THE G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT

All Preparations Suspended Until The Dispute is Settled

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 9.—At a long session of the executive Grand Army council last night a long set of resolutions was adopted, practically stopping all further preparations for the national encampment in August until assurances are given that it will be held in this city. This action was due to the refusal of the mayor and common council to appropriate $30,000 for tents and barracks unless it was certain that the Grand Army men were coming.

Eight state department commanders met in Chicago and decided to issue circulars advising their posts not to come unless a one cent rate was granted by the railroads. This action upset all of the local plans and led to the above result.

If the state department commanders carry their threats into execution it is probable that the invitation of the city will be rescinded.

A FREIGHT TRAIN WRECKED

The Accident Caused by a Broken Axle—The Killed and Wounded

PITTSBURG, July 9.—The freight wreck at Wilmerding on the Pennsylvania Railroad, which occurred last night, is not yet cleared. Two bodies have been taken from the wreck today. Six or eight more at least are killed. The train men estimated the list of dead and injured at sixteen. The train caught fire from a carload of whisky, which ignited in an unknown manner. The accident was caused by a broken axle. Thirteen cars and an engine are totally wrecked.

Following is a list of the killed and wounded so far as known: Killed—William Connelly and John Hyde of Pittsburg, a newsboy and an unknown man. Injured—Andrew Kennedy, a newsboy, of Pittsburg, probably fatally; Alfred Young (colored) of Tenia, seriously; St. John Kennedy of Milwaukee.

More Bodies Recovered.

PARIS, July 9.—Thirty-seven more bodies have been taken from the coal pit at St. Etienne in which the explosion occurred last week.

HIGH-PRESSURE AGE.

From the New York Record

Very aptly has this century been called the "high pressure age." In no period of the world's history did men live so fast as they do now. By fast life is not meant exclusively dissipation, but rapidity of execution of whatever is taken in hand—that hurry and bustle for which Americans have been so truly noted that today the business or professional man scarcely allows himself proper time for eating and sleeping.

This, coupled with late hours, sedentary habits, unbridled indulgence in the passions of youth and the excesses of maturer years, has given rise to a catalogue of diseases, mental, nervous and sexual, which if not promptly and radically counteracted will not only destroy the vigor and manhood of the present generation, but further than this superinduce beyond a doubt a complete degeneracy of those who come after us. Fortunately, however, medical science has of late years made most rapid progress—no more striking instance of which can be cited than the system of electro magnetic treatment as practiced by Drs. Darrin.

These physicians make a specialty of treating these diseases by this common sense and logical system of electro magnetic applications, which avoids stomach drugging and bears directly on the parts affected, and have given the subject their closest thought and study. They have been successful when all others have failed in giving vigor to the shattered constitution and relief to those who have become unfitted to perform the duties and the obligations of life.

Those needing the advice of honorable and reliable medical men would do well to apply at their consultation rooms, where every information will be afforded and consultation may be had free of charge.

The doctors have had a wonderful record of success in the past few years, testimonials by the thousand affording convincing proof of the efficacy of their system of treatment.

Drs. Darrin's Place of Business

Dr. Darrin can be consulted free at 235 Fifth street, corner of Main, Portland. Office hours, from 10 to 4 o'clock daily; evenings, 7 to 8; Sundays, 10 to 12. All curable chronic diseases, loss of manhood, blood taints, syphilis, gleet, gonorrhoea, stricture, spermatorrhoea, seminal weakness or loss of desire of sexual power in man or woman, catarrh and deafness are confidentially and successfully treated. Cures of private diseases guaranteed and never published in the papers. Most cases can receive home treatment after a visit to the doctor's office. Inquiries answered and circulars sent free.

INTERESTING BRUTES.

The fate of the prize fight between Sullivan and Kilrain undoubtedly possessed a certain interest for many persons, who never struck a blow in anger since childhood; who know nothing and care nothing about pugilism or athletics of any sort beyond what is necessary to keep the human body in sound working condition. How do we explain the interest felt in the issue of a prize fight by persons that could not be hired to witness it and would be pleased to see all parties to a prize fight planted in the penitentiary? The explanation of the interest in a prize fight is identical with the interest felt by intelligent men, who love peace and all its works, in the history of war. Any event that breaks the monotony of humdrum everyday life has a certain interest for mankind. The average man loves the marvelous, if he is credulous, and even if he is not credulous, loves the sensational. This passion of human nature explains why quack medicines, that promise miracles, sell rapidly; why "Christian Science" doctors find dupes in every community; why the cheap sensational novel has readers by the million; why the records of crimes and punishments have more readers in the columns of the daily newspaper than even the market reports; the stock list and the prices current of commodities. The unceasing grind of life makes mankind gladly welcome anything that breaks the monotony of the map of its ordinary dull routine of existence.

The conviviality that degenerates into drunkenness, the card playing that becomes a vice in the gambler's hands, the enthusiasm for outdoor sports, like baseball, boating, angling, horse racing, etc., all are born out of this desire of the average man for some relief from the dull round of daily work; he seeks amusement and excitement, and he gets it. If he is an intelligent, level-headed man his recreation begins in innocence and ends where it began, but if he is ignorant or superstitious his search for excitement makes him the silly devotee of false gods. He makes a business of play, instead of welcoming play as a breathing spell from business. He reads nothing for instruction, but everything for amusement or excitement; the worst, because the most useless books, divert him, and the moral serenity and useful activity of a life of energetic and virtuous endeavor is exchanged for a feverish career of ceaseless excitement, whether in society or business. But, entirely outside of the passionate interest displayed by the average man in the issue of an exceptional sensational event, Sullivan and Kilrain excited a scientific interest among intelligent men as illustrating the wonderful capacity of the human body to endure an exceptionally severe test of skill, strength and endurance. The heat of the sun in Portland yesterday was so severe that probably there are not two men on this coast who could have endured the trial that Sullivan and Kilrain were subjected to under the tropical sun of southern Mississippi on Monday. Here are two men of extraordinary muscular power; of large bone and stature, who battled under the hot sun under circumstances of extraordinary exertion for nearly three hours before Kilrain became so far exhausted as to throw up the sponge. The wonderful thing was the fact that Sullivan, who for three years past has been brought more than once near to death's door with gastric fever, the consequence of his incessant intemperance, appears to have exhibited extraordinary endurance and stamina, against a powerful adversary who has always led a comparatively temperate life, having used no alcohol since 1887.

The wonderful thing and the regretable thing is, that nature in her impartial generosity should have cast her fine pearls, in the shape of this extraordinary strength, agility, endurance, nerve stamina and exceptional recuperative powers, upon the neck of this swinish, boorish Sullivan. Such gifts made part of the natural equipment of a Webster, a Burke, a Fox, a Washington, a Cromwell, an Andrew, a Clay or a Conkling would have added wonderfully to their capacity for prolonged physical and mental exertion; to their length of days of usefulness and influence. But as a rule nature lavishes the pearls of magnificent physique and extraordinary bodily endurance upon the swine of society. None of the great soldiers or statesmen of ancient or modern times were of heroic port and stature, save Marshal Saxe, the victor of Fontenoy, and Peter the Great, the victor of Pultowa. Washington was a tall, muscular man, but he had a weak voice and weak lungs. Napoleon and Wellington were men of short stature, like Grant and Sheridan; Marlborough was a tall handsome man; Gustavus Adolphus and Charles the Twelfth were men of good stature, but as a rule the great statesmen and soldiers of both ancient and modern times, ruled by strength of will, force of character and professional skill rather than by heroic physique. The famous Knight Bayard, was a man of small, slight physique. In Shakspeare's Henry the Sixth the countess who receives the great English general, Lord Talbot, is surprised at his mean appearance and says:

> I thought I should have seen some Hercules,
> A second Hector, for his grim aspect,
> And large proportion of his strong-knit limbs.
> Alas, this is a child, a silly dwarf!
> It cannot be this weak and writhled shrimp
> Should strike such terror to his enemies.

While it is doubtless true that men of sound mind in sound body as a rule have always been the salt and salvation of the state, yet it is also true that nature as a rule has not lavished her extraordinary gifts of heroic physical strength, stature, nerve and endurance upon the superior minds of either ancient or modern times. Marius had the port and strength of a gladiator, but this was not true of Hannibal, perhaps the greatest soldier of antiquity, of Alexander, nor of Cæsar, or of the vast majority of the great captains of Europe from the Crusades down to the wars of the first Napoleon. The only marshal of talent under Napoleon, who stood for heroic stature and strength, was Kleber, assassinated in Egypt.

The fact that the men of genius of both ancient and modern times have seldom been of superior physical strength and stature would, perhaps, justify the conclusion that when men are exceptionally developed in muscle, brawn, sinew and stature, nature seems to nod when she frames their minds.

SQUINT-EYED SYMPATHY.

The attention of the nation has been recently directed towards New York through a proposed change in the manner of inflicting the death penalty in that state. A class of so called humanitarians, whose sympathies go out toward the perpetrators rather than the victims of murderous assaults that disgrace humanity, have long urged the substitution of some method of execution that would provide a more gentle release for the soul of the murderer than that of hanging. The plea was so eloquently urged, or the bill embodying it, so sagaciously engineered before the legislature of that state a year ago that the coveted law was at last enacted which decided that death by electricity was the most refined, and all things considered the most modern method for the disposal of the murderer. Governor Hill signed the bill and a subject was awaited. One in due time presented himself. After the usual attempt to prove that wanton killing was not murder, had failed, preparations went forward for dispatching the man by lightning manufactured for that purpose and applied according to the most scientific methods. These were complete, and just as the world was listening to hear how the subject stood the test, appeal was taken on the ground of unconstitutionality of the law, and the murderer was returned to his cell by an indefinite stay of execution.

With him in the Tombs are six other murderers awaiting action that shall decide whether they shall be hanged in the old way or despatched by electricity, according to the new. In the case of five of these the court of appeals has decided adversely and nothing but the clemency of the governor can save them from execution, after the supreme court has decided upon the matter. Four of these are wife murderers, the circumstances attending the commission of the crimes being those of extreme brutality.

It appears to a practical public, who sees in duty the protection of the helpless rather than sympathy for those who wantonly assault and cruelly murder them, that the old-fashioned method of execution by hanging is quite as gentle and humane a manner of death as such men are entitled to expect at the expense of the commonwealth. Humanity should cast its eyes the other way, not for the benefit of the wretched women who fell victims to the rage of these brutal criminals, but for the protection of other helpless, miserable wives, who crouch in squalid homes of drunkards and in dens to which libertinism has consigned them, in deadly terror of the cruel blow that will destroy them and render their slayers the objects of humane compassion and judicial protection. If sympathy must be squint-eyed it is high time that the focus it has long had upon murderers be shifted so as to take in the other and the really pitiful side of the case.

A LEAF FROM LAST YEAR'S ALMANAC.

The almost forgotten fact that there was a national prohibition ticket in the field last year was recalled by the announcement that the candidate for vice president on that ticket, Dr. John A. Brooks, would speak in this city a few days ago. The gentleman spoke as announced, declared that the issue which his late candidacy represented, was not dead, nor even sleeping, or words to that effect, and after the manner of the enthusiast predicted its complete triumph in due time. This was quite the thing expected and as Dr. Brooks is really a fluent and graceful speaker, his remarks were received with evident pleasure by his audience, as were similar declarations during the progress of the late presidential campaign by his audiences elsewhere.

It takes, however, an abiding faith in human nature which the ordinary prosaic plodder, who is disposed to take the world as he finds it, does not possess, to confidently predict the success of an issue upon the basis of the affability with which the people listen to arguments in its favor at a time when there is nothing to arouse them to a contrary view of the subject. It is one thing to listen attentively, and laugh and cheer uproariously; it is quite another to vote as the speaker directs, especially since usually by far the larger portion of his "well pleased audiences" are non-voters.

Dr. Brooks admits that prohibition does not prohibit "in some places," alleging as a cause of this that there is "not a man on the bench." This is indeed sad, but the speaker is not without a proposed remedy, a "political ready relief," so to speak. It is a simple one, too, and to add to its certain efficacy, its application is wholly within the power of the great American people. This is perhaps the reason why Dr. Brooks is so confident of an ultimate and perfect cure for the gigantic evil that he denounces. Briefly stated, the remedy is as follows: "Elect representatives of the third party to all of the important offices, from the president of the United States down."

It is a stiff-necked people indeed who will refuse or neglect to save the nation by a process so simple. Dr. Brooks cannot believe that they will be thus remiss; nay, he is certain that they will not, and with a faith that would be sublime if it were not wholly without foundation, he predicts the overthrow of a power, which he describes as absolute, thoroughly organized, in complete control of both political parties and of the executive, legislative and judicial departments of the government, through the willing mandate of those who uphold it. Of such stuff as this are the dreams of the third party prohibitionist made. And while he goes on dreaming and relating his visions, the practical, busy world jogs along, listening good-naturedly, when it has time, to his story, smiling at his predictions, feeling mildly glad (since at this distance it matters little) at his proclaimed conversion from pro-slavery principles to a belief in the doctrines of freedom, but taking small account of theories which are "out dated, like a last year's almanac."

Political maneuvers in the Northwest are likely to absorb the attention of the nation this fall to a degree that is only surpassed by the interest in a presidential election. Chairman Brice, of the national democratic committee, is intent upon bagging Montana and Washington for the democracy if possible, and will leave no means untried to secure that object. The battle will not be conducted under flying banners to the music of "Hail, Columbia," but will be managed quietly, as beseems a contest the result of which is in grave doubt. Meanwhile republican leaders cannot be expected to look idly on, resting their chances of supremacy in the new states on high moral grounds alone. Political success is not gained in that way and republicans do not propose to be counted out when it comes to a substantial increase of their working majority in the United States senate, not to mention the presidency of 1800, which is already in sight. Their only danger is in over confidence in the political record of the territories that are now assuming such importance as states, and the assurance that Chairman Brice will have his forces in the field will serve to dispel this.

Editor Stead, of the Pall Mall Gazette, has retired from the control of that journal. He will be remembered as the publisher of "The Modern Babylon," a series of articles exposing the vice and debaucheries of England's upper crust. Mr. Stead was honest, but unfortunate in the methods chosen by which he hoped to eradicate the immoralities of London. Charles Dickens described vice and wrong, and effected corrective legislation, but Mr. Stead's work, although portraying vice and crime in their minutest details effected no reform, and accomplished practically nothing. The plain significance of his retirement from the Pall Mall Gazette is that he has not been forgiven for telling truths in too plain language.

Dakota is having blizzards at the other end of the line. The thermometer has registered 100 deg. in the shade in various sections of that territory for many successive days. Oregon is not as boastful as her sweltering people could wish in this connection, as the mercury has rioted among the nineties throughout the Willamette valley for several days past, with Eastern Oregon to hear from.

A young man in Pennsylvania could not afford to take his bride on a wedding tour; so he purchased $5 worth of rides on a merry-go-round, and they traveled until tired out. If this young man had lived in Portland and was familiar with the street railway system of our city, he could have saved $4 95 to start in housekeeping.

Wilkie Collins, the great English novelist, has been stricken with paralysis, and though the attack does not forebode an immediately fatal result, it yet proclaims the end of his labors in the broad field of literature in which for more than forty years he has been a conspicuous toiler. He was born in London in January, 1824, and although not an aged man as judged by the Gladstonian standard, he has long been broken in health. He was an intimate friend of Charles Dickens and there is much of the force and originality that distinguished the work of the latter in his writings, although they are on a widely different plane of thought. His skill in concealing the secret of his plot to the end is perhaps the most marked characteristic of his novels. For this he has been denominated the "master of mystery," and as he helplessly awaits the unfolding of the great mystery for himself the hearts of thousands who have followed him in expectancy through the intensely interesting chapters of some of his more powerful stories as they have appeared in serial form turn toward him in mute sympathy.

Headache and Dyspepsia.

William E. Rockwell, No. 512 West 57th street, New York, says:

"I have been a martyr to bilious headache and dyspepsia. Any indiscretion in diet, over fatigue, or cold brings on a fit of indigestion to be followed by a headache lasting two or three days at a time. I think I must have tried over twenty different remedies, which were recommended as certain cures by loving friends, but it was no use. Like the Irishman, I got no better very fast. At last I thought I would take a simple course of purgation with BRANDRETH'S PILLS. For the first week I took two Pills every night, then one pill for thirty nights; to that time I gained three pounds in weight and never have had an ache or pain since."

PORTLAND AND VICINITY.

MARRIED WOMEN RULED OUT.—A gentleman who was at the land office, Oregon City, yesterday on business states that Mr. W. T. Burney, the register, announced that hereafter no married woman will be allowed to file on timber land, that in case she offer the filing and it will be refused, and then she can appeal to the commissioner of the general land office. Mr. Burney did not state his reasons for this ruling, but it is supposed he has good ones. Captain J. T. Apperson, the new register, will take charge of the office about the 15th, and it remains to be seen whether he will deny the married ladies the privilege of taking up timber claims or not.

LET THE THIEF DISGORGE.—Mr. P. J. Call, superintendent of Lowman & Hanford's Seattle printing house, at Seattle, who has been in the city some time, staying at a private house, was robbed Monday night of all his ready cash—over fifty dollars—which was taken from his trousers while he slept. As Mr. Call lost everything but the clothes he was wearing in the Seattle fire, it is a severe blow to him, and it is hoped that the person who took his money will be humane and return part, or all of the good red gold. Mr. Call's address is "care Lewis & Dryden Printing Co., City.

EMERY WHEEL BROKEN.—Yesterday afternoon, as Mr. William Druck was grinding a piece of iron on an emery wheel in his machine shop, at the foot of Oak street, the wheel, which was about ten inches in diameter, flew to pieces, one of the fragments striking Mr. Druck on the left temple, cutting an ugly gash and knocking him senseless. A liberal application of ice water soon restored him to consciousness, and he did not appear much the worse for his mishap, as he was able to walk about and went out with a friend to have his wounds attended to by a surgeon.

A "CULTUS BOSTON" MAN.—Yesterday, Deputy United States Marshal Roberts brought down James Lane, arrested near Salem, for furnishing liquor to Indians. Lane is a cultus white man, who haunts Indian camps and has on several occasions supplied the thirsty Aborigines with liquor. He was one of the persons engaged in a fire fight a few days since, near Salem, in which a man was badly cut with a bowie knife. He may be made useful for a time, if he should get a year in the penitentiary.

MRS. WALTERS HAS GONE.—Constable Carraway of Columbus, O., who is coming here for Mrs. Lizzie Walters, charged with murder, will be greatly surprised when he arrives here this morning to find that his bird has flown. He telegraphed from California yesterday to hold Mrs. Walters at all hazards and Sheriff Kelly sent a dispatch to him at Ashland stating that Mrs. Walters had been released on a writ of habeas corpus. Mrs. Walters and her husband left Tuesday night for Gilman, W. T., where the latter is employed.

DELEGATES TO OAKLAND.—At a meeting of Branch 56, of the Young Men's Institute, Monday night Daniel R. Murphy and Daniel J. Kelly were elected delegates to the annual session of the Grand Council of the order which will be held at Oakland, Cal., in September. Wm. J. Corcoran and James Sheehy were elected alternates. All the delegates from institutes in Oregon, Washington and British Columbia will meet in Portland and proceed to Oakland in a body.

PLEASED WITH THE COUNTRY.—Mr. J. G. Pyle, leading editorial writer for the St. Paul Pioneer Press, is at the Esmond with his wife. Mr. Pyle came out over the Canadian Pacific, will visit the Cascades by boat to-day, will leave for San Francisco to-night on the steamer Oregon, and, after a brief sojourn in California, return here and go East over the Northern Pacific. He and his wife are already deeply in love with Oregon and Puget sound.

A BOOK FOR COUNTRY SCHOOL TEACHERS.—County School Superintendent Wetzell is engaged in preparing a course of study and manual of instruction for the country schools, which he will finish about the latter part of August. In addition to the course of study which the law requires, the book, which will be a volume of 100 pages, will contain specific directions for teachers. The book will be the best of the kind ever issued in this state.

WAS IT COUNTERMANDED?—When Mr. Villard was here it was announced that the Northern Pacific cars were to be taken to the shops at Albina to be cleaned and repaired. An order to that effect was given by some one, but it was evidently countermanded, as the cars are cleaned as usual on the track at G and Front, and everything is in a muss there as usual. It would be a great convenience to everybody if they were sent to the shops.

CASH REGISTER IN COURT.—The National Cash Register Company, of Dayton, Ohio, brought suit yesterday in the United States circuit court against John Press, charging him with using a machine made by the Hensinger Self-adding Cash Register Company. The National Company claim that the Hensinger machine is an infringement on theirs. They ask for $1000 damages.—Chicago Herald, June 27.

PHEW!—It was so hot yesterday that even the swallows sought the shade and hundreds of them were clustered on the ledges and projections of the Starr block and around Corbett & Failing's store, where many of them have their nests. The sky last evening portended a change in the weather, and any change must be for the better.

CONTRACT LET.—The contract for the stone work of St. Patrick's church, to be built at Eighteenth and S streets, was let yesterday at the office of Otto Kleeman, architect, to James Barrell, for the sum of $11,342. The rough carpenter work was let to Martin Clancy for $4125. It is not intended to complete the building this year.

STEAMER ALKI.—The O. R. & N. Co. yesterday gave orders for the steamer Alki to load with coal at Seattle for this port. When her cargo is discharged she will go on the Sound and British Columbia route with the Idaho and Michigan. If these three steamers cannot carry all the freight offering, the company will get more.

LARGE NUMBER BEING SOLD.—The cooking range scheme of the Michigan Stove Company bids fair to realize a nice sum for the Ellensburgh sufferers. Tickets are for sale at Gunst's, J. K. Gill's, the Burlington railroad office, and at Stubb's & Lawrence's, and a large number are being sold.

PORCH TORN DOWN.—The wide porch in front of the St. Charles hotel was torn down yesterday having become somewhat dilapidated. The appearance of the building is much improved by the removal and it will be further improved by painting after which a canvas awning will be put up.

POLICEMAN HOXIE APPOINTED JAILER.—Sheriff Kelly yesterday appointed Charles E. Hoxie county jailer, vice E. J. Dougherty removed. Mr. Hoxie has been on the police force during the past two years and has been an efficient officer, and his appointment gives general satisfaction.

ARRIVED HOME.—George S. Merrill and Mrs. M. A. Merrill, his mother, arrived home last night, after an extensive Eastern trip. Mr. Merrill was appointed president of the Polytechnic College in San Francisco this spring, and will assume his duties beginning with the fall term.

SHAD ARRIVING.—Shad are being received here daily from Astoria in considerable numbers. One dealer receives about a hundred per day and yesterday received 278. The largest received so far weighed five pounds. They are all sent by one firm.

JOHNSON CREEK SEWER.—Work will be begun on the Johnson creek sewer as soon as the contractors, Messrs. Bays & Jeffery, get their bonds filed. They will put on about fifty men and push the work vigorously.

ADJOURNMENT OF COURT.—Judge Stearns will adjourn department No. 2 of the state circuit court July 20. Judge Shattuck hopes to adjourn department No. 2 about the same time.

LEAVES WITH A PARTY.—Mr. Adrew Todd leaves to-day with a party to survey a tract of public land in the Nehalem country in the vicinity of Mishawaka.

PLAT FILED—The plat of Mountain View addition No. 2 to Portland, was filed yesterday by Bailey Avery.

SUMMER RESORT.—Furnished for rent cheap, address, Resort, care OREGONIAN.

THE COMMITTEE OF FIFTEEN.

The Public Will Be Waited on for Subscriptions to the Ellensburgh and Hailey Relief Funds.

Pursuant to the authority vested in President Donald Macleay, of the Portland Board of Trade at the meeting Monday night, he, yesterday morning, appointed a committee of fifteen to canvass the city for subscriptions to the Ellensburgh and Hailey relief funds. The following gentlemen were placed upon this committee:

C. H. Dodd, C. H. Woodard, D. D. Oliphant, Ben Selling, E. J. Rothschild, Donald Macleay, C. M. Forbes, S. Wheeler, W. B. Honeyman, H. J. Corbett, G. E. Watkins, F. Woolsey, Allen Lewis, W. W. Spaulding and George Pope.

In addition to this, Mr. Macleay appointed a committee to consider the advisability of giving a grand benefit excursion. Upon this committee were placed D. P. Thompson, chairman; Ellis G. Hughes, F. K. Arnold, D. D. Oliphant and Wm. Kapus.

This committee will report in a day or two, and if it is decided to give an excursion, extensive preparations will be made at once.

ROBBED BY A PESKY HEATHEN.

A Chinaman Despoils a Nest of Thrushes—All Such Offenders Will Be Punished.

Just about the maddest man in town yesterday was Mr. Frank Dekum, president of the society for the importation of German song birds. A heathen Chinee had found the nest of one of the gray thrushes imported by the society and robbed it of the young ones and sold them around town.

One of the poor little birds about half-grown was found in a cage at a fruit stand on Third street by Secretary Pfluger. It was starving to death having nothing but seed to eat, which it could not eat, as the thrushes are insect eating birds. Mr. Dekum went after the bird, but it had died before he secured it. The gray or song thrush is one of the most highly prized of the birds imported by the society, and only ten pairs of them reached here and were turned out. Several persons wished to buy a pair offering $20 for them, but the society of course would not sell them, "and to think that after all our trouble and expense in bringing them here," said Mr. Dekum, "their nests must be robbed by an infernal —— —— —— of a heathen Chinaman, is enough to make a minister swear."

The society has still some funds on hand, and will pay a liberal reward for information that will lead to the arrest of any one, Chinese or white, guilty of robbing any of the songbirds of their young, or in any way molesting them or their nests. Any person knowing of any one taking or offering for sale any of these birds will please inform the society of the fact.

The fact of the Chinaman having stolen the young thrushes shows that the birds are rearing broods, and Mr. Dekum says a pair of chaffinches with a brood of young ones were flitting around his grounds a day or two since. There is a city ordinance protecting song birds which will be strictly enforced against all offenders.

PERSONAL.

A. B. Steinbach will leave on the 11th inst. for New York.

Mr. S. Julius Mayer, of Portland, was in New York July 2.

Mr. J. F. Halloran of the Astorian was in the city yesterday.

Mr. Henry Taubenheimer, who has been East for the last two months, returned this week greatly improved in health.

Mr. B. Neustadter leaves this morning for Newport Yaquina Bay with his wife and son. Mr. Neustadter will return after a week leaving his family there for the heated term.

Mr. H. F. Royce, general superintendent of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroad is in the city. He is accompanied by his wife and they have just returned from a trip to Victoria.

Coroner A. P. DeLin left for Tacoma on the Northern Pacific train yesterday evening. From Tacoma he goes to Victoria, B. C., where he will spend several weeks visiting friends and enjoying himself.

Rev. T. A. Hyland and wife, of New York city, are visiting in Portland, the guests of Judge Loyal B. Stearns. Rev. Mr. Hyland was for fourteen years the Episcopal minister at Astoria. He left this state eleven years ago.

Dr. Wm. Koehler, of this city will go by the Northern Pacific to New York this evening, where he will meet and accompany his son, Geo. F. Koehler M. D., on a trip to Europe to attend some special Clinicks in his profession.

J. Gilpin Pyle, associate editor of the St. Paul and Minneapolis Pioneer Press, registered to the Esmond yesterday evening. Mr. Pyle goes to the Cascades this morning and returns again this evening to take the steamer Oregon for San Francisco.

TO THE PUBLIC.

In justice to the public, as well as to ourselves, we have been requested to say that ours is the only directory and gazetteer of the Northwest. We conduct our business on legitimate business principles, and instruct our solicitors to take no money in advance. The proper compilation of directories requires capital and experience, and the public may feel assured that our aim will be as it always has been—to give full value. See that it bears our name. Respectfully,

R. L. POLK & CO.

Priestley's Silk Warp Henriettas

Are the most thoroughly reliable goods in the market. They are made of the finest Silk and best Australian Wool. You can easily distinguish them by their softness and beauty and regularity of finish. They are always the same in quality, weight, width and shade, thus enabling you to match any piece, and are dyed in two standard shades of black. None genuine unless rolled on the "Varnished Board," showing the grain of the wood, which is the Priestley Trademark.

OUR SEMI-ANNUAL
CLEARANCE : SALE
Will Open Monday, July 8, at 9 O'clock A. M.

GREAT : CRASH : IN : PRICES

Once more we come before the public with one of our great sales, and it shall be our earnest endeavor to make this, our semi-annual clearance sale for the year 1889, a sale to be long remembered by our many patrons. You all know what to expect at one of our "clean-ups;" IT MEANS STACKS OF GOODS FOR LITTLE MONEY. Any one that has ever been in our establishment knows that we are always short of room. Our immense patronage compels us to keep our stores literally packed with goods, and at the close of a season the main problem to solve is how to make room for the next season's stock. There is only one way, and that is, clear out the goods on hand and make way for the new. Price is no object; room we must have. Away back in the commencement of 1889 we arrived at the conclusion that it was to be a year of great commercial activity, and commenced to map out our plans for an immense business, and we are satisfied that we have builded well, and that the coming season will be one series of successful business transactions. We have import orders placed in Paris, Berlin, London and Yokohama, and mill orders for home manufactured goods. We have several car loads of these goods now en route, and it is imperative that we have room for them. We will offer you unparalleled inducements during this sale in every department of our establishment. We mean just what we say. Millinery Goods, Fancy Goods, Notions, Gloves, Hosiery, Corsets, Underwear, Dress Goods, Silks, Velvets, Cloths, Linens, White Goods, Domestics, Summer Wraps, Shawls, Rubber Goods, Ladies' Gentlemen's and Children's Shoes, Men's, Youths' and Boys' Clothing, Hats and Caps, Furnishing Goods, Trunks and Traveling Bags. All will be included and the knife put into prices deep—no more scratch, but a deep cut that can be seen by every body.

PORTLAND, WEDNESDAY, JULY 10

THE FOREIGN MARKET

The last report of the commissioner of agriculture contained the following paragraph

No amount of advertising no proffers of reciprocal trade, no change of fiscal policy can force on Europe another peck of wheat per capita scarcely another quart for many years to come unless unexpected disaster shall befall her crops.

Europe is the only foreign buyer of our surplus wheat. Its population is 350,000 000 Its average annual production of wheat and flour is 1,200 000,000 bushels It annually purchases from other countries about 144 000 000 bushels It annually consumes four bushels per head of grain and flour Of this, nearly half a bushel per head is imported

These figures settle the value of the foreign market that free traders prate so much about to farmers The value of this foreign market is fixed, but the value of our home market to the farmer can be expanded immensely by increasing the number of consumers by increasing the manufacturing population the number and variety of manufactures With this increase would come a flood of immigration to meet the demand for labor Europe as a foreign market ought not to fool our farmers for she takes but one tenth of the product of our farms and this almost wholly in five articles—cotton, tobacco meats, breadstuffs and cheese All our other farm products put together make but 3 per cent of our exports

If we adopted free trade England would not buy any more of America than she does to-day, she would buy what she needed, neither more nor less Europe takes to day but one-tenth of our surplus while all of Europe does not take as much of our Indian corn as Iowa alone produces A single county in Illinois supplies all France's wants, and Germany needs still less Russia and Roumania have a surplus of Indian corn and all Southern Europe raises enough for home consumption We import potatoes from Canada, Scotland Germany, Holland and the Netherlands Free trade could not help us in this respect All Europe makes butter enough for home consumption save Portugal Belgium and Great Britain while Holland's surplus is four times larger than that of the United States and France's three times larger The department of agriculture tells our farmers that the "possibility of enlarging the export of cheese depends on the maintenance of its quality and reputation and the price at which it can be sold," and that four fifths of the wool manufactured in the United States is grown here

Of tobacco Statistician Dodge says

Europe can easily produce all the tobacco required, but two reasons are prominent for importation of tobacco from this country It is cheap, and very desirable for mixing with and fortifying European leaf If it becomes dearer, a smaller quantity is purchased if very much dearer it would scarcely find sale at all The production is regulated and limited by governmental edicts. Our exportation is not increasing the proportion of our crop exported is declining and will continue to fall off as our population increases. Much the larger portion was formerly exported now the larger part is annually manufactured

These extracts prove that it is not the foreign market which is limited, but the protection and illimitable extension of the home market that ought to engage the attention of the American farmer or, as the New York Sun puts it the policy of our farmers should be to strengthen their home market, so that it will take everything the soil of the United States will produce to plant mills furnaces, factories and shops alongside the farms, and stop going to markets thousands of miles away and in the case of California's wheat, 23,000 miles "

THE OPPOSITION TO LINCOLN

Senator Wilson, of Massachusetts was among the republican statesmen and politicians of 1864 opposed to the re election of Lincoln after his renomination A leading republican of New England an influential journalist during the war prints the following incident from his own experience in the New York Sun

"While waiting in the outer room of the war department for a pass I met Colonel Markland, superintendent of the army mail service, whom I had never before seen Senator Wilson, of Massachusetts also came in, with many others

"Mr Lincoln had just been nominated at Baltimore, and after greeting Senator Wilson I asked him how he liked the nominations

"Oh, fairly well, said he 'Johnson's is the best name on the ticket.'

"Well Mr Senator said I 'most probably you would say that there are many men both in the house and in the senate, who are fitter to be president than Mr Lincoln?'

"Yes, said he many men in the house and three-quarters of the senate

"This was said with a freedom that appeared well nigh flippant I replied that it was well known that influential men in the party had been opposed to the renomination of President Lincoln notwithstanding which the common people were his most earnest supporters and I could not help an expression of surprise that so accurate an observer as he should be unaware of the fact

"The next day Colonel Markland introduced himself to me on the mail boat, as we were on our way to White House Landing He expressed his satisfaction at my response to the senator, and said that from his observation in the army Mr Lincoln could command every republican vote and was by far the strongest man the republicans could nominate.

The whole world so far as it has cared to listen, has heard of the brutal slogging match between Sullivan and Kilrain of the perspiring thousands who packed the special train that pulled out from the depot at New Orleans on the morning of the 8th of July of the appearance of the men who were to beat each other out of all semblance of humanity in the attempt to establish, or maintain a reputation, of the details of the seventy six rounds in which they fought with the fierceness of buildogs and of the gory aspect of victor and vanquished when the fight was over Thousands of dollars have changed hands upon the result Boston is rejoicing Baltimore is mourning The sporting world has been gorged to repletion with incidents of the fight and the contestants have been duly blanketed and retired the one to boast his prowess the other to bewail his defeat So long as the brutal spirit that worships at the shrine of brawn exists such contests will occasionally occur It may be that disgusting as they are they serve a purpose in the economy of nature by giving the spirit that urges them on a rallying point remote from the haunts of reputable decent, orderly society upon which to expend its surplus force Be this as it may it is as well to take a philosophical view of the matter as to load the air with jeremiads upon the sinfulness of this perverse generation taking consolation in the fact that no one has to witness such a fight or read its details on compulsion

NOTE AND COMMENT

"Misery loves company and Americans can solace themselves with the fact that this country is not alone in the enjoyment of labor troubles The recent strike of miners in the mining regions of Germany called out ninety thousand workingmen who were determined to see it out with their employers We already have a full supply of strikers in America and cannot afford to increase the number, but the natural tendency of this affair will be to swell the striking population of our country One thing in the way will be that if they spend all their money on strikes they won't be able to travel

The planting of shad in our river is literally casting bread on the waters. Seth Green secured a great blessing for the poor people of New York when he planted shad in the Hudson No doubt doing the same for the Columbia will secure for us equal blessings. The shad planted in the Hudson are now so numerous that poor people can afford to purchase them and enjoy a luxury Shad had sold for $1 apiece at New York because they were scarce, but the young shad grew and multiplied, and shad became so cheap that they sell at $2 to $10 a hundred We are also interested in shad culture, since they are planted in our rivers, and the following concerning the shad and its habits will be interesting "Seth Green was the discoverer of the fact that shad hatched in one river and sent thence to the ocean return to their birthplace for spawning In the ocean they visit high Northern latitudes where the waters abound with insect life and their food is practically unlimited So the locality that puts most of the young shad into the rivers levies most heavily upon the ocean, whose resources for supplying food for mankind have only begun to be understood "

Californians graded their fruit for the first time last year and now have all sorts of inventions for the purpose of grading prunes according to size They excel Oregon in putting matters in good shape and doing business on correct principles. This fall our people will turn off a much larger quantity of prunes and other dried fruits than ever before and should be prepared to put up their products in the best shape possible It is only by excellence our products can command attention and secure for producers a fair price The excellence natural to Oregon fruits is one thing and excellence of caring grading packing and handling is something that must be attended to or natural excellence won t profit us at all

The Italian government, it is said assists to support a school in New York city which is a charity for Italians. It is rather singular that one of the monarchies of Europe helps to support a school of this sort and yet it is only a fair thing to do These Italians were degraded and ignorant and were not entitled to citizenship in America Rather than see them sent back to Italy that government can afford to do its part towards making them fit subjects for citizenship here, Some journal at the East denounces this receiving charity as disgraceful It does not seem to realize that pauper emigrants are not wanted and would be sent home unless some such provision was made for them

Blaine was correct, it seems when he said England is plastered over with trusts An Eastern industrial exchange says England far outdoes America in the number of its trusts and business combinations Nineteen trusts have been formed in the United Kingdom since the beginning of the year They represent a capital of $12 300 000 The most gigantic combination on record however will be the British coal trust If completed it will represent a capital of $500 000 000 We can look on and wonder if the time will ever come when our broad continent will groan under so much combination and carry such a multiplicity of syndicates Let whosoever charges protection with the faults of our own country in such respects take a look at free trade England and then repeat the assurance. It is about time the free traders of America learned some lessons from their old mother, England

Postmaster General Wanamaker thinks it is better to improve the postal service rather than lower the postage rates. The United States should be able to perfect the postal service in the ablest manner, and instead of maintaining rates as at present, spend money if necessary, to make the service what it should be and to lower the rates to one cent instead of two There is no doubt that cheapening rates will increase the business and prove a great blessing to the people then let us have the best service the world can afford and the cheapest Two cents is not much but there are plenty of people who cannot afford to write as many letters as they wish, and business would respond to lower postage in a very emphatic manner It would be a great feather in the head gear of Wanamaker himself and a glory to his party if the reduction of postage could be effected during this administration

A lady who was visiting at Ellensburgh and happened to be there during the fire wrote home a brief and graphic description that is worth repeating for its force and naturalness. She says

We have telegraphed you that we are all O K, but I write in haste to say that the fire came within one block of us and we had everything packed to start at the signal of danger Fortunately the wind kept the fire from us It was an awful sight, the street by our house was piled high with household goods and our house was full of homeless people They filled the lounges, chairs and some sat on the floor One poor old woman lay in the corner and cried for the loss of all she had in the world How my heart did ache for her! Oh! papa and mama you cannot imagine the wierdness and horror of it! The town is literally gone—the business portion of it I mean Those brick buildings seemed to melt and the wind and fire roared so we could scarcely hear ourselves speak Among those we entertained was one celebrated Clairvoyant medium one Christian science lady, two variety theater people and others just as interesting and uncertain

THE FLASHING FOOTLIGHTS.

Mattie Vickers at New Park—Cordray's Theater—"Strategists' To-Morrow Night—"Twelve Temptations' Coming

Despite the sweltering heat of last evening a well pleased audience witnessed the second performance of the delightful soubrette Mattie Vickers in Jacquine and testified their keen appreciation of her artistic work by frequent applause She is decidedly one of the cleverest little women in her line of business on the boards to-day, and her singing and dancing are in the highest degree enjoyable There is a finish about her work and a spontaneity that always catches on with an audience Her German dialect impersonation in the second act is especially fine, and invariably receives an enthusiastic encore

To NIGHT will be the last opportunity to enjoy this charming artist s acting since there will be no matinee to-day and her engagement ends with to night s performance of Jacquine '

CORDRAY'S MUSEE AND THEATER Another large and appreciative audience attended this popular amusement resort last night, and everybody was highly pleased with the play The management certainly deserve credit for their hard and earnest work giving their patrons just what they represent Manager Cordray promised to give the people of Portland a respectable place of amusement at a low price of admission, and at the same time present standard dramas In this, he is keeping his promise, and the result has been a steady patronage of the musee and theater and it is a pleasure to record its success One advantage the place has is the canvas roof as soon as the sun is down, the entire house is cool and refreshing A list of good standard attractions will follow in rapid succession and in a few weeks a strong comic opera company will take the place of dramas There will be a matinee this afternoon at 1 30 The Octoroon will be presented and will continue every night for the remainder of the week

OUR STRATEGISTS TO MORROW NIGHT —It has been three years since Marietta Nash last appeared in Portland playing at that time the soubrette role in A Bunch of Keys To morrow night she will again make her bow to a Portland audience in that funniest of comedies Our Strategists This will be the 100th performance of this most amusing of plays Miss Nash and Harry B Bell and their company of clever people will no doubt keep the house in roars of laughter from the rise to the fall of the curtain The management intend to make this night a souvenir occasion and handsome satin programmes will be distributed to the ladies in the audience

On Saturday night will be presented Miss Nash s new play, ' Katti which is said to bristle with amusing situations and clever comedy work, and to afford the lady fine opportunity to display her specialties.

THE TWELVE TEMPTATIONS —Mr George H Morris the general advance manager of Gilmore s Twelve Temptations company, arrived yesterday over the Oregon overland direct from San Francisco to make arrangements for Mr Gilmore s company which takes possession of the New Park theater for one week commencing Monday evening, July 15, giving but two matinees Wednesday and Saturday The company numbers seventy people and requires two special railroad cars to carry their paraphernalia Mr Gilmore it will be remembered, produced his 'Devil s Auction here two years ago and receiving liberal support has determined that Portland shall see his greatest effort The sale of seats will open Friday morning the usual scale of prices prevailing

THE SALVATION ARMY NOT WANTED

H Williams Charges Them With Taking His Wife and Breaking Up a Once Happy Household

A correspondent who signs himself H Williams sends a lengthy communication to THE OREGONIAN in which he most bitterly complains of the disreputable work being done by the degraded Salvation Army

They have been the cause of my wife s ruination he says They worked things so finely that they got her to go to The Dalles where she was to take care of the barracks After being there a short time she was taken sick with neuralgia and then came back to Portland to have her teeth extracted She was here about a week doing well when she got another fanatical spell and went back to The Dalles where she now is with one foot in the grave and the other one liable to follow at any day

She left our child in care of a corrupt and brutal neighbor Parker and his followers who ran the Salvation Army in this city They treated the child with contempt This I can prove by five persons who were at the barracks and could see everything that was done

The building in which my wife lives at The Dalles is scarcely fit for swine being surrounded with [illegible] and courtesans I only returned from the [illegible] about two weeks ago and have been [illegible] to induce her to leave the filthy and loathsome hole that she now occupies but thus far without success

In conclusion he warns people to keep away from their fanatical religion asserting that it is only the almighty dollar which they are too lazy to earn, that they are working for Keep the money in your pocket he says and starve them out of existence

Every article is sold almost at New York cost at Steinbach s great renovating sale.

PEARS' SOAP secures a beautiful complexion.

A SKETCH OF LEWISTON.

Head of Snake River Navigation at the Junction of the Clearwater.

An Important Shipping Point During the Gold Excitement of the Sixties—Resources of the Surrounding Country

LEWISTON Idaho July 7, 1889

This pioneer town of all Idaho lies at the confluence of the Snake and Clearwater rivers in Nez Perces county and was called Lewiston after the name of Lewis who with Clark first carried the flag through this wild Indian country eighty five years ago The discovery of gold in the Oro Fino district in 1860 brought thousands of men here and being at the head of navigation gave it the importance of a shipping point for the whole country There were at least 10 000 men here early in '62 on the rush for the new mines The start it then got fixed it as an enduring site for a town and its prestige has never waned though having passed through periods of business stagnation its growth has been steady and sound

The [illegible] trading point with [illegible] mining districts has assumed the magnitude of its former trade though the settling up of the surrounding country with farmers and stock raisers has partially preserved the volume of business and its existence is nevermore to be doubtful [illegible] The resources of the tributary country [illegible] boundless and a rapid development [illegible] transportation facilities are as good as [illegible] communication on our rivers can make [illegible] though in these days of rapid transit we should [illegible] if we had railroads The [illegible] to the more development of our resources which are practically [illegible] nearer Already preliminary surveys have been made by the Northern Pacific O R & N and [illegible] companies [illegible] but for [illegible] the mail and the little world [illegible] be left long without the very [illegible] service

Were our rivers open to the [illegible] service maintained the absence of a railroad would not be much felt [illegible] be kept up for the greater improvement of river transit as all the richness of [illegible] would naturally centralize here [illegible] the tendency is to direct our commerce across the country to the coast With [illegible] Lewiston can defy competition by any other town in Idaho

Its low elevation being only 700 feet above tide water gives it a climate like that of coast towns For a period of four years from 1880 the mean temperature was [illegible] The mercury seldom falls below zero The average rainfall is about 30 inches The nights are cool throughout the summer The last signal service reports give us the most favorable climatic record among 150 stations in the United States The [illegible] rarified atmosphere affords us an advantage [illegible] in the intensity of heat or cold when compared with the regions east of the Rocky Mountains

The soil of our adjacent valleys is light sandy loam, very fertile and immensely productive It is being appropriated very fast for horticulture, all kinds of fruit doing well our equable climate making it favorable for the cultivation of grapes, peaches and like tender fruit This industry is yet in its infancy but few orchards yielding any great surplus These are becoming the most profitable of any kind of business carried on here

The grain belt surrounding Lewiston is among the most productive of any to be found The average yield is from thirty to forty five bushels of wheat, forty to sixty of oats and of barley, and fifteen to twenty five of flax Vegetables are equally thriving

The timber belt is unsurpassed and being tapped by our rivers affords easy access to it and is destined to create an immense industry At present there is but one sawmill here, which is unable to supply the market there is much need for a first class plant Such a mill connected with sash door and furniture shops, would be practically without competition and would command the traffic of the whole country around Most of our sash doors and furniture now come from Portland and other distant places

Another great need is foundry works and machine shops For all the extensive repairs of machinery orders have to be sent abroad sometimes as far as to the Eastern states requiring long delays occasioning great injury It is reported that iron has been found in the mountains to the east of us If so it will soon be developed into a profitable industry

These mountains are full of metals gold silver and copper crop out in every direction New discoveries are being made every year Lately the prospector is regaining some of his old time importance, and the hidden treasure must unveil herself to his persistent gaze It must not be thought that because certain mines have been worked out that that ends our mining for because such a vast extent of mineral country will furnish almost an endless field of operation Quite important discoveries were made last year in the Alton district and more recently copper and silver leads showing good prospects have been found about thirty miles up Snake river companies have been formed for the development of these

Among the industries of Lewiston we find one flouring mill one small sash and door shop one machine shop one shingle mill four blacksmiths one harness shop one brewery one carriage and repair shop two shoemakers two jewelers three miles out we have one sawmill and box factory We have five general merchandise stores four grocery stores two drug stores one furniture store four agricultural machinery agencies three banks three livery stables two hotels one restaurant, one butcher shop and packing house two millinery stores one [illegible] store two barber shops one dentist six doctors six lawyers one printing office six saloons

For public buildings we have a $12 000 school house three stories and a court house and jail costing $30 000 is now in course of construction It is to be finished in approved modern style and will be a fine ornament to our city Our moral welfare is attended to by the Methodist, Universalist Presbyterian Second Advent Catholic and Episcopal churches We have a graded school system and feel proud of our educational facilities There is some building going on this season and business generally is good

There is a field here for some new enterprises such as a creamery a tannery a canning factory shoe factory woolen mill carriage factory and many others None of these exist within a hundred miles or so and nearly all the raw material for them is supplied in great abundance Now it all has to be sent a great distance to be manufactured and be returned at a double freight rate This must be remedied in time but it don t seem to be coming fast enough We need here more capital more enterprise to bring this section up to its proper standing We invite these and shall hope soon to see accomplished what we know to be our capabilities We have a board of trade here whose secretary will be glad to give such information as may be asked

A CORRUPT PORTLAND POLICEMAN

He Charges a Centralia Man $20 for Being Out After Midnight

O H Livingston of Centralia, W T sends the following to THE OREGONIAN

Noticing in THE OREGONIAN the crusade you are making against the corrupt police force of Portland and knowing that the same is very commendable I desire to relate to you an instance that happened to myself personally

During the first part of last March I visited Portland on a combined business and pleasure trip and stayed at one of the leading hotels of the city Having a young lady friend in the city who resided on Ninth street I accepted an invitation to attend a whist party at her house one evening Leaving the house about 12 30 A M en route to my hotel on the corner of Fifth and Morrison streets I was arrested by a policeman who said I was roaming the streets after 12 o clock and I started with me toward the city jail I protested against such treatment and endeavored to explain to him but to no avail He insisted upon my going with him Realizing what a terrible disgrace it would be to appear in a police court with a lot of hardened criminals I offered him $20 to release me which he accepted and I proceeded on to my hotel Business requiring my immediate presence here, I left the next morning without lodging any complaint against said policeman

I am perfectly willing to substantiate this statement by affidavit if necessary

GROWING LESS AND LESS

The Work of Filling Up Couch Lake Progressing Very Favorably

The work of filling Couch lake is progressing favorably the amount of dirt dumped in up to date amounting to [illegible] 000 cubic yards The fill west of the new freight depot is now wide enough for four tracks and a track has been laid and the space between the O & C track and the O R & N track is being filled in, and the crossing to be put into the O R & N road is being made at the Albina shops As soon as possible probably in two or three weeks the Northern Pacific passenger track will be shifted to the west side of the freight depot the temporary tracks removed from First street and that street improved as agreed Then the grand new freight depot will be opened Mr J A [illegible] chief engineer of the terminal Company is now making drawings for the foundations of eight sets of scales which are to be put in the floor of the depot

IN MEMORIAM

At Elmrose Hill near Oswego Or [illegible] day evening July 2d Julia A loved wife of J [illegible] Morris of Portland Or Aged 41 years

Forty one years of faithful service ever doing good forty one years of persistent and unvarying effort in making others happy in comforting the oppressed in cheering the afflicted in caring for the sick and in helping the tempted and weary one near to that Saviour of whom she was so bright and faithful an exemplification It is only now after the grave has closed over her that all who knew her in life and loved her so well can realize that the pure loving Christ like life is ended that this mortality has put on immortality and that set as a living star in heaven s firmament of unchanging splendor her pure spirit is to night singing that "new song before the great white throne All who knew her remember how she loved to dwell on the glories of that other world beyond how often, when speaking of Heaven, her face seemed to be illumined with an almost heavenly light, and she became to all her friends a being dearly loved, and now, how sadly missed And even to night beyond the gates of pearl and amid the ransomed throng who are "ever singing as they shine her song will take a cadence low sweet tender and comforting as she looks down and beholds the loved ones here alone all alone Alone but not in despair for we know that "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord " Yea saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors and their works do follow them "

All that is mortal rests in one of the most beautiful spots in Riverview, by the side of her infant child while the spirit is before the throne on high No more sickness or sorrow, no more weariness or pain no heartache or care no good byes spoken no sigh heaved, for there they shall hunger no more neither thirst any more neither shall the sun light on them or any heat, for the Lamb which is in the midst of the throne shall feed them and shall lead them unto living fountains of waters and God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes.

Oh, who could bear life s stormy doom
Did not Thy wing of love
Come brightly waiting through the gloom,
Our peace branch from above

Then sorrow touched by Thee grows bright
With more than rapture s ray
As darkness shows us worlds of light
We never saw by day

RIVER AND OCEAN

Movements of Vessels—In Port and En Route

MILITARY NOTES

Under date of Vancouver July 9, the following special orders were issued

The commanding officer Vancouver barracks, will send Private William Wilson troop B 2d Cavalry, to Fort Walla Walla the station of his troop

In compliance with instructions from headquarters of the army dated June 24 1889, the following promotion in the 2d cavalry is announced

Lieutenant Daniel C Pearson troop B (Fort Walla Walla) to be captain June 22 1889 vice Norwood retired, which carries him to troop I, (Fort Sherman) Captain Pearson will join the troop to which he has been promoted

PERSONS AND EVENTS

Young Mr Morgan of Sidney Neb whose suicide was regarded as unaccountable by his friends in Omaha is now said to have left his bank $35 000 under water It seems that Mr Morgan knew a good deal better than his friends when the proper time for disappearing had arrived

A crank in Allentown Pa highly prizes a half smoked cigarette which was cast aside by Red Nosed Mike the murderer who was recently hanged Had the jury known that he smoked cigarettes his punishment might have been worse

Baltimore American The admirers of Mrs Partington (B P Shillaber) will be pained to learn that the venerable lady is laid up with a bad case of pneumatics but instead of giving way to alcoholic deflection as so many do in times of violent bibulation is a perfect parody of patience and cheerfully welcomes even a little alliteration in her hard life

Pittsburg Dispatch Chauncey M Depew reports that he told one or two funny stories to the president and left the executive refreshed and in good humor After this of course General Harrison cannot be ungrateful enough to appoint any one to fill the vacancies on the interstate commerce commission who would make the interstate commerce law unpleasant to the railroads by enforcing it

Thou canst not take Love s name in vain or lay
Aught in thine undefiled burning heart
Upon his shrine lest even the air should stay
Thy hand and into warning whispers start

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, July 9—The trading in the stock market to-day was only about half that of yesterday, although the confident feeling which became so noticeable last evening continued throughout the day The general drift of the prices was upward, although operations of the bears and traders made a feverish and irregular market during most of the time The first prices this morning were from ¼ to ½ per cent better than last night. The weakest point in the market was the trusts and especially sugar, which was sold on the expectation that the general term would confirm the opinion of Judge Barrett and the stock at one time was about 3 per cent. lower than last evening During most of the day the general list presented little or no feature and the market finally closed dull and firm at something better than the opening figures.

DOESN'T ALWAYS KILL

And That's Why Electricity May Not Be Practicable for Executions

In view of the fact that the approaching execution by electricity of Kemmler the Buffalo murderer is a theme of general interest both among humanitarians and the great public who await with interest the result of this untried innovation the experience of an electric light employe in Virginia City Nev cannot fail to be interesting Henry Faull received a shock from which he remained unconscious for fifteen minutes, during which time his heart showed no signs of pulsation The palm was burned where he had held the wire The current passed down through the right side of his body, leaving no mark save where it left the foot, the toes of which were scorched black Faull gives the following account of his sensations

After grasping the wire he was immediately drawn upward with irresistible force and endeavored to shout for aid but although another workman was but three feet distant his voice was not audible Although suspended by his hands with his toes resting on the boiler plate floor for scarcely a second Faull says it appeared to him that he was in that position several minutes He felt no pain whatever This is the last he remembers until restored to consciousness

A Raging Epidemic.

The worst epidemic of bowel complaint that has occurred in this country since the cholera epidemic of 1866 was that of last summer in Pope and Johnson counties Ill The following from L E Rumsey Eddyville Ill explains itself Last summer and autumn the malady (bloody flux) was raging here to a fearful extent As it was very severe in nearly all cases everybody at first ran to the doctor but it was soon found to be of such a severe and peculiar type that our doctor in most cases failed to even give relief much less cure it In consequence a great number died It was not long however until Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy came into use, and I never heard of a single case where it failed For sale by L Blumauer & Co

Our little girl when but three weeks old broke out with eczema. We tried the prescription from several good doctors but without any special benefit. We tried S. S. S., and by the time one bottle was gone her head began to heal and by the time she had taken six bottles she was completely cured. Now she has a full and heavy head of hair—a robust healthy child I feel it but my duty to make this statement. H. T SHOBE, Rich Hill, Mo.

BREAKFAST.

By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected Cocoa Mr Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame —Civil Service Gazette.

Quarterly Meeting of the State Horticultural Society.

Letter From R. D. Allen—A General Discussion—The Oregon Prune—Resolutions Adopted—An Interesting Session Held.

Yesterday the Oregon State Horticultural Society met at city council chamber with a good attendance present; Dr. Cardwell in the chair.

COMMUNICATIONS RECEIVED.

The following letter was received and read:

SILVERTON STATION, July 8, 1889.

To the President of the Oregon Fruit Growers' Association, Portland, Or.: Not being able to attend the session of the Oregon Fruit Growers' Association to meet in the city of Portland to-morrow, I wish to ask the society's opinion in regard to the following questions:

(1) Is it advisable to prune young orchards, say from two to three years old, during the months of July and August? This question suggests itself to me by observing my own orchard of 1500 trees (twelve acres) of prunes, now three years growing. I pruned my trees back to within eight inches of the stem—that is, cut last year's growth back to within eight inches of the growth of the year previous—and the growth this year now reaches from two to four feet. My idea is that if the trees would not be injured by July pruning that this growth could now be cut back, and thus make stockier limbs, and not require so much removal of fruit buds or limbs next year.

(2) The Italian has proven to be one of the hardiest and surest bearers we have and the fruit seems to command the highest price in the market. In view of these facts would it not be well for the association to advise the planting of this variety almost exclusively, for this reason, viz: Were the Italian the principal or in fact the only dried prune in the Eastern market branded as the Oregon prune, it would become distinctive of the Oregon product and would be sought after as being the very best prune in the world. If we, on the other hand, send mixed lots, in many instances consisting of a very inferior variety, such as the German and many of the varieties of dried prunes, we are putting ourselves in direct competition with the cheap, and what we consider worthless, foreign prune.

Above all things we must use our efforts to establish a reputation that the favorable adaptation of our soil and climate to the production of the better varieties of prunes deserves. The custom of some of our large fruit driers of buying up all kinds of plums and prunes and drying them from one to two weeks before the fruit is at the proper stage of maturity should be discouraged by the society. Such a course if kept up will certainly injure our reputation, if not ruin it altogether. I am told that a large fruit drying establishment in the Willamette valley did this undesirable kind of business last season. A green pear or plum or prune of any variety makes an inferior dried product.

Respectfully asking an expression of the members of the society in regard to the above questions, very truly, R. D. ALLEN.

DISCUSSION ON PRUNING.

This letter was discussed through the forenoon, and the general conclusion arrived at was that pruning in the summer was very advisable. Some thought pruning could be done except for two months in the year.

Dr. Cardwell didn't think it was necessary to except any part of the year, but the knife can be used to advantage whenever a tree has superfluous wood.

Mr. Settlemier said the summer pruning must be confined to the wood that had grown during the season and that no old wood should be cut during the growing season.

The discussion was diffuse and the advantage of doing pruning in summer was conceded by all, and discussed by many.

Mr. Settlemier gave his experience with the peach and advised that the peach especially, should be pruned in summer. One-third the new wood should be cut back about the middle of August.

THE MOST DESIRABLE PRUNE.

In the afternoon Dr. Cardwell announced that the subject for afternoon discussion would be: "What shall be adopted as the Oregon prune?"

Some speakers took the position that the Italian was pre-eminently good here, better than anywhere else in the world, and should be grown here as especially the Oregon prune.

Mr. Settlemier and Mr. Clarke took the ground that while the Italian was preferable, it was best to plant out a variety of prunes to have a succession and have more time to cure them.

It was conceded that it would be best to make a specialty of the Italian; it was advisable to cultivate a variety and have more time to cure them in. It was shown that the Petite yielded 6000 pounds of cured fruit to the acre, and at 7 cents a pound was more profitable than any other fruit of that variety. The varieties that sold at 9 to 12 cents did not pay as well as the Petites at 7 cents a pound.

RESOLUTION OFFERED.

Mr. Allen offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That we, the members of the Oregon State Horticultural Society, regard the Italian prune as the prune of all prunes to be grown in Oregon, and should be made the leading prune to be found in all orchards, for the following reasons:

First—Because it is without question a prune of superior quality to any other now known that has been thoroughly tested.

Second—That it is a prune that can be grown in Oregon better than in any other country in the world, and therefore will meet with less competition than any other in the markets of the world.

THE MATTER TALKED OVER.

Mr. Settlemier objected to any assertion that only one variety is to be raised. He thought we should have a variety.

Mr. Clarke said we raised the Petite as well as the Italian with superior excellence, and our Petites are as superior as the Italian. In fact, both varieties are superior in excellence and sell at a premium.

Dr. Plummer favored the Petite as used, and preferred in his family. He did not believe the Italian would grow as well as the Petite prune in many parts of Oregon.

Another gentleman said he knew of Italian prune orchards that had all died. This was confirmed by several speakers.

Mr. Seth Luelling had trees over thirty years old still vigorous. He recommended these four: Petite, Golden, Italian and Golden Drop as furnishing a succession. The Golden is a prune originated by him as an Italian seedling. These last during two months.

Mr. Settlemier said the Italian did not grow south of the Umpqua valley to any extent; south of there the Petite is generally planted.

OFFERED AS AN AMENDMENT.

Mr. Clarke offered the following as an amendment to the preceding resolution:

Resolved, That it is the sentiment of this society that we consider the Petite, Italian and Golden Drop (or Silver prune) as four varieties that last through the prune season and furnish a succession to cover that season. That all should plant of the Italians all they can take care of, next the Petite, and that all plant a few Golden prunes to test the excellence of a promising variety, originating in Oregon by Seth Luelling.

The resolution passed and the meeting adjourned.

FRUIT IN THE MARKETS.

Peaches Arriving by the Ton—Some Will Not Stand Long Shipments.

The Oregon arrived yesterday morning a day late. She brought a lot of apricots, peaches, tomatoes, etc., some of which were in poor condition. Peaches are coming in by the ton from Ashland, and many from Vancouver, Powell's valley, and other points in this section. They are very nice peaches, those from Vancouver taking precedence in point of color, but all are about equal in flavor.

The sidewalks in front of commission merchants' places of business were yesterday piled high with boxes of fruit, and, in one place a sign was hung out, "No peach plums wanted." The reason given was that these plums would not stand shipping. They are fine for canning, or drying and should not be allowed to go to waste.

A fruit-grower says the reason that complaint is made that Oregon fruit does not stand shipping well is because care is not taken to have it ripe enough before it is picked. If there is any way in which our fruit can be handled so that it will bear shipping better, the matter should be attended to. Oregon peach plums are very fine fruit and should command a good price anywhere, and, as any quantity of them can be had, it is a pity that they cannot be handled so as to bear shipping long distances.

LET THEM KEEP A SHARP LOOKOUT.

The Close Season Almost Ended—About Bad Sportsmen.

The season when grouse, pheasants, etc., can be lawfully shot begins next Monday. It is the usual thing for a lot of fellows to go out the day before the season opens, and slaughter all the young birds in the country, and flood the markets with them on the first day of the season. Especially is this the case, when the season opens on Monday as it does this year, and it is said a large number of bad men are preparing to go out next Sunday and have a regular battue.

A number of sportsmen, who will not do this sort of thing, are planning to raise a fund and have these bad men watched and prosecuted, and there will be trouble ahead for those who have large lots of young birds to sell next Monday morning.

The birds are probably larger this year than usual at this time, but they are not half grown, and it would have been much better if the close season had been extended to August 1.

HER HORSE RAN AWAY.

A Very Narrow Escape—But the Lady Was Not Injured.

About noon yesterday a horse came tearing down Stark street at racing speed, the lady on his back having lost control of the animal. She was sawing on the bit with all her might, and crying "whoa, whoa," in a tone of voice which showed that she was just a little scared.

As the horse approached First street, one of those brilliant young men who nearly always manage to be present on such occasions, rushed out into the street and waved his hat frantically, taking care to keep out of way of the horse, which, more frightened than ever, wheeled suddenly down First street narrowly escaping running against the lamp post on the corner, and in front of Wisdom's door fell on his side the lady coming down in a sitting position on the stone block pavement.

She was assisted into Wisdom's, and when her escort arrived breathless, and with the perspiration pouring down his manly brow, she was sipping a glass of soda with a telegraph pole in it. Her habit was dusted and she remounted and rode off smiling, but her escort had a string to her horse. They were members of the company playing at the Musee.

It may be well to remark here that although, in nearly every runaway case, some one swings his hat in front of the horse, no one has ever heard of a horse being stopped by this fool trick, and it would be well if people would give it up.

TWO BOLD BUNKO MEN.

Jacob Zimmerman, of East Portland, Is Very Cleverly "Done Out" of $2000.

The most remarkable case of swindling by bunko men reported in East Portland for some time, has just come to light. Mr. Jacob Zimmerman, of this city, was the victim, and he was relieved of the sum of $2000 in hard cash.

Last Saturday a well dressed man came to the Chicago hotel where Mr. Zimmerman was boarding, and stated that his wife was the possessor of $10,000 in government bonds, which she wanted to invest in land. Mr. Zimmerman said he had some land in the country which he would sell. The two entered into conversation, the result of which was that Monday they drove into the country together.

They were driving along the road on Gravel hill, when they met a man who had a heavy leather satchel on his shoulder. They stopped and asked the man what he had in his satchel and after some apparent hesitation he said he had $10,000 in it. He put it down on the ground and opened it, and drew out a card. He turned to Zimmerman's companion and offered to make a bet of $2000 on the card. The bet was made and the man with the satchel lost the $2000 which he paid to the man in the buggy. The latter whispered to Zimmerman that he could win $2000 if he had that money with him. Mr. Zimmerman said he did not have the money with him, but had it in the East Portland bank. The two came back to town and Zimmerman drew $2000 from the bank, $1000 in currency, $500 in gold and a $500 check.

They again went back and met their man. The first bet was for $1000 which Zimmerman lost and paid the man in currency retaining the check and the $500 in gold. This alarmed Zimmerman and he would make no more bets. The man who had won the money offered to exchange the currency for the coin and check, and to this Zimmerman consented. The man then counted out $1000 in greenbacks, and putting it in an envelope, handed it to Zimmerman. Zimmerman and the would-be land investor came to town. When they got back, it was agreed that they would meet at police headquarters in Portland at a certain hour and see if the police could not do something toward apprehending the man who won the $1000 from Zimmerman.

The latter was on hand at the appointed time, but the other did not come. In the meantime Zimmerman had not looked at the envelope, which was supposed to contain $1000 in currency since it was handed to him. He had simply placed it in his inside coat pocket, and had not thought to look at it. An officer asked him to let him see it. The officer was handed the envelope, and he proceeded to open it. Judge of Mr. Zimmerman's dismay when nothing but paper was found on the inside. He saw at once that he had been victimized to the extent of $2000, and that the two men are bunko men.

BEER GLASSES AND KNIVES.

A Serious Cutting Affray at the Blue House Sunday Night.

The Blue house, a beer saloon about three miles out of the city on the White house road, was the scene of a lively fight late Sunday night. An evening of beer drinking and carousing was followed by that very elevating diversion known as a dog fight. The dog fight, not proving interesting enough, the boisterous crowd were soon engaged in a pitched battle, in which knives and beer glasses were used as weapons.

There were arrayed on the one side, the owner of the saloon, Michael Tonnler, his brother Benedict Tonnler, Andrew Antonio, Andrew Fuhrer and Henry Fuhrer, and on the other side, Tim Smith, Will Smith, Tom Maloney, William Hunter, John Whittle and Jacob Whittle. The battle raged for some time, the Tonnler party using beer glasses, and the other faction knives, and at the end all were more or less disfigured. Several of the Tonnler gang were badly slashed up, and numerous cuts about the face and body were carried away as trophies of the fight after active hostilities were ended.

It was at first intended to keep the matter quiet, but yesterday afternoon Constable Simmons, on warrants issued from Justice Tuttle's court, arrested all but two or three of the combatants on charges of assault with a dangerous weapon and assault and battery.

The cases will have a hearing in Justice Tuttle's court this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

BURIED IN AN EXCAVATION.

B. F. Jessup, While Working in a Ditch, in Albina, Meets Death Under the Earth.

B. F. Jessup, a laborer employed on an excavation at the corner of Russell and Wood streets, Albina, met his death yesterday morning about 11 o'clock under several tons of earth which caved in upon him when he was at work.

Jessup was at work some distance from the rest of the crew, and the supposition is that he must have been dead either from the weight of the earth, or suffocation, or both, about half an hour before he was discovered.

A lumber wagon heavily laden with electric light poles passed the street about the time Jessup is supposed to have met his sad fate, and it is believed that the rumbling of the wheels caused the bank to cave in, under which he was buried.

The body was taken to the morgue about noon, but as the cause of death is perfectly clear, it was not thought necessary to hold an inquest.

The deceased came to the city of Albina a few months ago, and has been working for Contractor Foster for some time. He boarded at the Key City House, the proprietor of which thinks Jessup was a married man and that he came originally from Iowa, where he has a grown son and daughter.

Jessup was about 48 years of age and was temperate in his habits. A message has been sent to the place in Iowa, where he is supposed to have lived, and the body will be kept at the morgue till an answer is received.

A GOOD ROUND SUM.

The Vancouver Celebration—What Was Realized for the Johnstown Sufferers.

THE OREGONIAN'S Vancouver correspondent, under date of July 9, sends the following:

The following is the approximate result of Vancouver's Fourth of July celebration in aid of the Johnstown sufferers:

Gate receipts	$2,010 15
Dancing and boats	125 00
Individual subscriptions	793 50
Total	$2,928 65
Expenses	448 70
Net Profits	$2,479 95

The amount of gate receipts would seem to indicate that at least 15,000 persons were within the limits of the garrison on that day.

The sum total of the expenses appears insignificant compared with what was furnished for it, and can only be explained by the fact that almost everybody called on to assist sacrificed any profit that might accrue. The splendid Fourteenth infantry band, under the efficient leadership of Professor Wash Darrow, tendered their services gratuitously in spite of the fact that magnificent offers had been made them from other towns; Mr. Hughes, of Portland, most generously furnished the material for the fireworks for less than half the cost price, THE DAILY OREGONIAN sacrificed more than half of its charges for advertising for the good cause, and so on ad infinitum. The whole affair was a grand success in every particular, thanks to the efficient management of Mr. John D. Geoghegan, chairman of the committee, General Gibbon (above all), Colonel Lee and others.

"I AM LYING, EGYPT."

Dr. Harry Lane, Millard O. Lownsdale and others have gone to the Trask on a fishing trip. A gentleman who is camped over there has been writing some wonderful accounts to his friends here, and at the end of his letter pastes the following practical effusion—probably stolen:

"I am lying, Egypt lying in my own peculiar way,
I acquired the habit lately, but I do it every day;
Every morning to the river with my tackle I repair
To beguile the speckled troutlet from his deep pellucid lair;
In the evening on returning, I describe my victims's size,
And I'm roaming, Egypt, roaming in a wilderness of lies."

BRIEF MENTION.

Moonlight boating at the Stark-street boathouse.

What might have saved Seattle? One of Z. T. Wright's Lindgren Fire Engines. They can be seen at the foot of Morrison street. Every family should have one.

In conversation with a member of The Kohler & Chase Music House of this city, yesterday, it was learned that just at the present time there is an unprecedented demand in Seattle for the Matchless Decker Brothers' piano. Many of the people of that city lost their instruments in the recent fire, and in replacing them their choice in nearly every instance is the Decker Brothers'. The house above referred to has just telegraphed a large order East for these magnificent instruments, and they will be shipped through to Seattle to supply the demand there.

KUHNEL PAID FOR HIS FUN.

Frank Kuhnel had a hearing in Justice Tuttle's court yesterday afternoon on a charge of assault and battery on Dr. Adolph Diedrich. The doctor claimed that the defendant made an unwarranted assault upon him Monday afternoon in H. Schneider's saloon, on the corner of Washington and Fourth streets. There was considerable contradictory testimony produced, and from the statements of parties on both sides, it appeared that the scuffle was mutual and participated in alike by the plaintiff and the defendant. The court found Kuhnel guilty and imposed the minimum fine of $5.

SCHMID GETS $24.

Carl Schmid, who commenced suit in Justice Phelan's court some time ago against Joseph Emerger to recover $31, was yesterday awarded a verdict for $24. Schmid claimed $24 for wages and $7 for some butter delivered to the defendant, but according to the statements filed in the answer by defendant, the butter had been paid for in merchandise.

POLICE COURT.

There was a very brief session of the police court yesterday. Dennis Murphy paid $2 for being drunk and S. C. Hayes and China Mary were taxed $5 and $10 respectively for the same offense. W. Hutchins pleaded guilty to a charge of carrying concealed weapons and was fined $25.

Using the Tramp to Good Advantage—At the Canneries—School Board Meeting—Notes.

Officer Robertson yesterday made good use of chloride of lime. He took several of the tramps and distributed buckets of lime on the worst places on Fourth and I streets, where there was a fearful accumulation of refuse, and the stench was almost unendurable.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING.

From the minutes of the school clerk, the following proceedings of the board meeting Monday night were obtained:

The following bills were approved and ordered paid: Judges and clerks, $40; Beonson & Saylor, $148 75; G. A. Goodale, $1 50; J. E. Hazeltine, $2 10; E. Renfer, $6; J. J. Kadderly, $7 50; J. A. Wesco, $4; OREGONIAN, $5 10; Peasley Bros., $22 75, Peaslee Bros., $7 20; D. C. Heath & Co., $23 58.

W. R. Taylor, janitor, was instructed to have needed repairs made in the North Central school building.

The city superintendent was authorized to secure bids for stationery for the coming school year, and also bids for furnishing seats for the school rooms now being finished.

A resolution was passed charging children outside of the district tuition at the following rates: Primary grades, $1 per month; grammar grades, $1 50 per month; High school, $2 per month.

The school clerk was authorized to advertise for bids for fencing the grounds of the Central school building, the fence to be built in accordance with specifications to be furnished by Joseph Paquet.

AT THE CANNERY.

The North Pacific cannery has commenced putting up blackberries, and they are coming in from the surrounding country rapidly. Inside the cannery there is considerable life. Cans are piled in every corner and nook, and there are great sacks of pears being received from the country. The output this year will be much larger than last year.

NOTES.

The matter of improving Sixth street is being considered.

For quick raising, the Royal Baking Powder is superior to all other leavening agents. It is absolutely pure and wholesome and of the highest leavening power. It is always uniform in strength and quality and never fails to make light, sweet, most palatable and nutritive food. Bread, biscuits, muffins, cake, etc., raised with Royal Baking Powder may be eaten hot without distressing results to the most delicate digestive organs. It will keep in any climate without deterioration.

Prof. H. A. Mott, U. S. Government Chemist, after examining officially the principal baking powders of the country, reported:

"The Royal Baking Powder is absolutely pure, for I have so found it in many tests made both for that company and the United States Government.

"Because of the facilities that company have for obtaining perfectly pure cream of tartar, and for other reasons dependent upon the proper proportions of the same, and the method of its preparation, the Royal Baking Powder is undoubtedly the purest and most reliable baking powder offered to the public.

When we put a little pressure on and squeeze things down. We're at that now. We are squeezing prices down to the very lowest notch of compression that is possible to give them.

Take a Look in Our Windows.

Then take a look through our big stores, and see the stacks of men's Summer Suits at $8.50 to $20.

No Trouble to Show You Through.

We're glad to have you all call and join the crowds of buyers and sight-seers that throng our stores daily. Remember that our KNIFE is SHARP. It has cut deep into former prices. Summer goods must go.

We are the Leading Clothiers.
